Dulles Wins Struggle for Anti-Red Bill

Resolution Approved; Guatemala Casts Only Vote Against Measure

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The 10th Inter-American Conference today voted overwhelmingly to condemn the activities of the international Communist movement as foreign intervention in American affairs.

The vote on this key section of the U.S.-sponsored anti-Communist resolution was 17-1 with only Guatemala voting against it. Mexico and Argentina abstained.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, virtually assured of a major diplomatic victory in getting approval of an anti-Red resolution, planned to leave for Washington this afternoon.

Support Proposal

A majority of the nations meeting here threw their support to the Dulles proposals for united action to prevent international Communists from gaining a foothold in the Americas.

Some, however, demanded amendments to the U. S. draft resolution which would spell out more specifically a guarantee that this would not permit intervention into the internal affairs of any one state.

Guatemala, accused by U. S. officials in Washington of being Communist dominated, has fought a bitter, lone battle against such a declaration by the conference. That country's representatives here deny their government is under Red influence and claim they are fighting for democracy.

The Red issue has been debated heatedly in the political-juridical committee of the conference for a week. Dulles led the fight for passage of his resolution calling on American states to take joint action whenever any one of their number falls under international Communist influence.

Mexico Leads Way

Mexico led the way in trying to get the proposed resolution amended to call for joint action only if a country were threatened by outside agents. Several countries wanted assurances that the citizens of individual states would have the right to choose their own form of government and economy without outside interference from any quarter.

Other committees of the conference speeded up their work, aiming at adjournment before the end of this month. An economic subcommittee agreed yesterday to call a conference of American finance ministers later this year, possibly in Washington, to take up the mutual economic affairs confronting the members.

2 U. S. Navy Planes Attacked by Czechs

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Two American Navy carrier-based planes were attacked by a Communist MIG near the Czech-German border yesterday. Czechoslovakia charged immediately that they had flown over its vital uranium-producing center at Jachymov, 35 miles inside the Iron Curtain and fired the first shot.

The Navy said one of the two American propeller-driven planes was damaged but both pilots managed to bring their aircraft safely down at Neubiberg airbases in the American zone of Germany near Munich.

Investigation Ordered

A Navy spokesman in London said an investigation into the shootings was ordered by the U. S. Sixth Fleet. He said first reports showed empty aviation ammunition cartridges were found on German soil after the attack. One American spokesman in Munich said, however, the planes had "inadvertently" crossed into Czech territory. Clouds covered much of the frontier area over which they were flying.

Bavarian police were the first to report the incident and it was hours before Army, Navy or Air Force came out with an official confirmation of the shooting.

Reds Intercept

Before they did, the Red government of Czechoslovakia already had announced over the Prague Radio that it had lodged a formal note of protest with the U. S. Embassy charging the planes had entered its territory at Domazlice in the early afternoon and flew as far east as Jachymov—one of the Soviet world's most important producers of atomic energy raw materials.

The Czech broadcast said one of that country's jets intercepted the American aircraft and demanded that they follow it to a landing inside Czechoslovakia.

"However, the American planes refused to follow this demand and attacked the Czech plane," the Prague Radio report claimed. "The Czech plane then used its weapons in self-defense."

The Navy said the two planes were on a routine training flight off the Essex-class carrier Randolph. The Randolph is attached to the Sixth Fleet, which is the backbone of the NATO naval defense system.

The planes had been flying over the American zone of Austria, just at its junction with the German state of Bavaria and Czechoslovakia.

The two Navy pilots still were at the Neubiberg Airbase this morning, but the commanding officer there said he was ordered to answer no questions concerning the incident. He refused to identify the pilots or permit newsmen to see them.

Earlier Clashes

The clash occurred over the same tense East-West frontier where MIG fighters attacked two American Air Force F84 Thunderjets March 10, 1953, shooting down one. Two days after the loss of the Thunderjet, Soviet fighters destroyed a British Wellington bomber over the same frontier area, killing seven British airmen.

Following those two incidents, Allied Air Force officials in West Germany announced new safety rules, designed to keep Western planes from approaching within 30 miles of the Iron Curtain except on specific missions.

A Sixth Fleet spokesman said the two planes attacked yesterday had been part of a formation of 45 jet and propeller-driven planes sent out over the Alps on a "familiarization" flight.

AEC Reports H-Bomb Data Still Missing

Information Classed as Top Secret Disappears From Atomic Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — Substantial quantities of secret documents, related possibly to hydrogen bomb production, reportedly are missing from the government's huge 400,000-acre atomic plant at Hanford, Wash.

Rep. Pelly (R-Wash) told newsmen yesterday the Atomic Energy Commission has confirmed informally that certain papers have vanished. Pelly, who said he first heard reports of this late last year, added that AEC did not tell him the nature of the missing classified material, but that he took it for granted it was "top secret."

No Indication of Spies

Pelly said he had no indication the data was stolen by spies, but he asked for an investigation by the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee because, he said, "even if it's a matter of poor housekeeping it's a shocking situation."

The congressman reported Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) of the atomic committee has agreed to look into the situation and that an investigator probably will be sent to Hanford shortly.

An AEC spokesman said the commission would have nothing to say for the time being. At Hanford itself, there was no immediate comment. The project, which lies near the Columbia River, employs 18,500 workers.

Produces Plutonium

The project's main mission is production of plutonium—a fissionable material—for atomic bombs.

However, Dr. Ralph Lapp, a scientist who worked on the World War II Manhattan project, said in a recent book that material used in the first big hydrogen blast in November, 1925 was made at Hanford. Dr. Lapp identified this material as tritium, a heavy form of hydrogen.

Police Cruiser On Mercy Run In Fatal Mishap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus police cruiser, taking a man injured in an auto accident to a hospital, collided today with an automobile, killing one of the car's passengers.

The police department identified the dead man as Percy Brantley, 75, of Columbus.

Injured in the second accident, police said, were Officer Jack Cole, 26, driver of the cruiser; Officer Albert R. Miller, 24, his assistant, and Sam McClurkin, 37, passenger in the car.

The policemen were taking Charles Larry, 24, of Columbus, to a hospital when the second accident occurred. Larry finished the trip in another cruiser and was admitted in serious condition, officers said.

Larry was injured, according to police, when a car containing six persons, three of them women, crashed into a utility pole on the city's east side. Four other passengers were also admitted to hospitals, all in serious condition.

Driver of the car which collided with the police cruiser, Andrew J. Mizelle, 44, of Columbus, was charged with failure to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle, police said.

Bryan Woman Killed

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — Joan Van Poppel, 21, of Bryan was killed today and two others injured when a car crashed into a concrete bridge on Ohio 5 about 10 miles southeast of here.

Injured were Rosemary Sprow, 28, of Edgerton, and Florence Camillo, 33, of Bryan. Both suffered fractures.

IN LESS TURBULENT TIMES. Here are two members of the Senate investigations sub-committee and their counsel as they sat in New York in February, 1953, during an investigation of the Voice of America. On March 11 in Washington, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) (right), senior Democratic member of the subcommittee, called for an Army report which disclosed Sen. Joseph McCarthy (center), and the subcommittee's chief counsel, Roy Cohn (rear), had interceded with the Army in an effort to get a commission for G. David Schine (left), a McCarthy aide, when he was about to be drafted.

Bank Robbers' Bullets Knock Down 3 Police

One Dies of Wounds; Search for Bandits Fans Out From Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—Three bank robbers who shot their way through a police trio, killing one and wounding two others, were the objects of a virtually clueless search throughout the Pacific Northwest today.

The policemen never fired a shot yesterday morning as they were cut down by the three men who had just finished robbing the Greenwood Bank of $97,700—$90,800 of which they dropped in their getaway.

The bandits, wearing horn-rimmed spectacles and false noses which some bystanders first thought were part of a joke, entered the bank at 10:40 a.m.

An employe pressed a concealed alarm bar with his foot and three policemen in one-man patrol cars responded—their sirens screaming as they neared the bank.

"George, somebody's sounded the alarm," one bandit shouted as he ran toward the front lobby. Police Sgt. Howard Slessman, shotgun at his side, was running through the outer door. The bandit fired and Slessman fell, a bullet wound in his neck.

As Slessman fell, Patrolman Frank W. Hardy, 30, arrived and jumped from his car, running toward the parking lot on the east side of the bank. A second bandit fired through a window, hitting Hardy in the head. He dropped to

Will Present Views Of Administration On Major Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon states the case for the Republican administration tonight in a radio-television address, while a family fight rages within the GOP over Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and some of his investigative aides.

Yesterday McCarthy bitterly protested Army Department officials had attempted to "blackmail" his investigations subcommittee into dropping a probe of the Army. He made public a document that represented Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens as trying to divert the group's attention to a search for wrongdoing in the Navy, Air Force and Defense Department.

Call Accusations Untrue

Stevens and John G. Adams, the Army's general counsel, retorted that such accusations were untrue. McCarthy had said Adams told him several months ago a report embarrassing to the subcommittee would be made public unless an investigation of the Army were called off.

Before the day was over some Republicans as well as Democrats in the Senate were demanding investigations to determine who is telling the truth in the crossfire of accusations.

Nixon had been designated last Monday to deliver the party's reply to criticism by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. One of Stevenson's thrusts was a description of the GOP as "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

President Eisenhower had backed Stevens when, after an earlier row with McCarthy, the secretary said he would protest Army witnesses against any "abuse" at the hands of investigating committees.

Cites Pressure

The explosion that again shattered the peace between Stevens and McCarthy came when Senate sources yesterday made public an Army report saying efforts were made to get special treatment for G. David Schine, an unpaid consultant to McCarthy's subcommittee, after Schine was inducted last November as a private.

The report cited instances when McCarthy had allegedly exerted presure on Army Department officials and his subcommittee's chief counsel, Roy Cohn, allegedly had used threats.

McCarthy's retort of "blackmail" was accompanied by memoranda he said came from the subcommittee files and depicted of-

Plane Crashes At Singapore; 32 Are Killed

Seven Survive Flaming Wreck of British Craft; Fire Roars for an Hour

SINGAPORE (AP)—A BOAC Constellation airliner crashed and burst into flames on landing at Kallang Airport here today, killing 32 of the 40 persons aboard. BOAC officials said two Americans and one Canadian were among the passengers.

The Singapore Standard said the Americans were believed to be Vice President Grant F. Olson, of the W. A. Shaeffer Pen Co., and Michael Shathin, Far East supervisor of Warner Bros.

The big four-engine plane, operated by a British Commonwealth company, was coming in from Jakarta, Indonesia, where it had stopped over on its regularly scheduled flight from Sydney, Australia, to London.

It crashed at the end of the runway after skimming over rooftops on a normal approach for the landing. Flames enveloped the plane and roared out of control for more than an hour.

When the blaze was quelled, the firemen broke into the plane with axes to pull out the charred remains of the victims.

Some of the injured crewmen in the forward part of the plane managed to crawl to safety. One of these was the stewardess, Josephine Butler, who was said to be in serious condition. An aged civilian in the tail of the plane was the first to be removed by the rescuers. His condition was reported as critical.

Artillery Fire Breaks Raid Of Vietminh

Rebels Blow Up Rail Lines, Capture Forts Before Making Escape

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — French Union Troops, backed by tanks and a mighty artillery barrage, today routed Vietminh troops blocking France's vital north Indochina supply line.

Sweeping into the heart of the Red River delta last night, the rebels, blasted five gaps in the mainline railway linking Hanoi with the coast. They also blew up bridges and captured, burned and destroyed many watchtowers and small forts along the route.

Pipeline for Equipment

The 64-mile railway and road paralleling it are the pipeline for most of the U. S.-supplied war equipment entering Haiphong by ship.

The French said the coordinated Vietminh attacks appeared to have been an all-out attempt to smash the supply line.

Fighting spread almost to the outskirts of Hanoi, with fierce clashes between French Union troops and the Vietminh's hard-fighting regiment 42 just eight miles from the city in the village of Nhu Quynh.

The Vietminh moved into Nhu Quynh after blowing up a long stretch of railway track. For a time they also threatened to cut the highway, over which about 6,000 French supply trucks move each day.

Vietminh Routed

The fire power of the French armored units finally forced the Vietminh to break off the battle and flee into the rice fields and bamboo thickets.

Today, French tanks and armored cars patrolled the highway all the way to the coast to keep it open to vital war traffic. Without this road and railway, all supplies would have to be flown to the main French forces in north Indochina.

First Time in 3 Years

This was the first time in three years or more that Vietminh forces had pushed through openly to the railway between Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

In the mountainous northwest, the Vietminh struck at the French supply line to Dien Bien Phu, leveling 75 mm fire on the isolated position's air strip.

Segregation Will End In Ohio National Guard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Segregation in Ohio National Guard units is set to end within two weeks.

Maj. Gen. Leo H. Kreber, Ohio adjutant general, said yesterday the 37th Infantry Division, which was reorganized last January after two years of federal service would be fully integrated, with no separate racial units maintained.

In the past there have been two all-Negro units.

TRIESTE (AP)—Six U. S. soldiers were burned—one fatally—yesterday in a fire that broke out in a barracks they were cleaning at nearby Banne.

Puerto Rican Arrested While Making Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—A Puerto Rican Nationalist was arrested last night while telephoning the FBI about his plans to kill President Eisenhower.

Police identified him as Jose Rivera Colon, 30, an itinerant paint sprayer. He is to be arraigned today on charges of threatening the President.

While FBI men talked to Colon on the telephone, his call was traced and police rushed to the drugstore booth to pick him up before the call ended.

Police files showed Colon had once been committed to a mental institution. The FBI said he told them he would kill the President "in the next couple of months."

Colon's arrest came during a grand jury probe of the shooting of five congressmen in Washington last week. The government says it believes the shootings were plotted in New York.

More than 90 Puerto Ricans in New York have been summoned to testify.

The gunman arrested in Washington said they were trying to gain independence for Puerto Rico. However, the island's legislators have repeatedly voted against independence, preferring Puerto Rico's present status as a commonwealth.

10 Inches Fall

Snow, High Wind Buffet Five-State Midwest Area

By The Associated Press

A snowstorm moved northeast out of Colorado and Kansas today, wetting down clouds of dust that had reduced visibility to zero in parts of five states. The blizzard dumped up to 10 inches of snow in its wake.

As the storm progressed, winds that had buffetted the Plains States with gusts up to 100 miles an hour diminished slowly. But hail borne by a howling wind and accompanied by lightning lashed Grand Rapids, Mich.

Snow for Dust

Nebraska bore the brunt in the early stages as the storm substituted snow for dust in its drive across the midcontinent.

Snow to depths of 10 inches was reported at Chadron in western Nebraska. The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. reported 1,630 long line circuits out in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota. It said 3,600 farm phones were out of service in the three states.

In Kansas City, the Weather Bureau said the storm would move northeast through Iowa and Minnesota into Wisconsin and Michigan, and eastward out of Oklahoma and Texas. The weatherman said some rain was in prospect north of a line extending roughly eastward from St. Joseph, Mo., northeast of St. Louis to Cincinnati. He said falling temperatures were in prospect for the South as warm air gave way to cold.

Wind Fans Forest Fire

High winds continued to buffet Missouri last night, fanning dozens of forest fires, some covering more than 500 acres each.

The State Conservation commission said the worst danger was in southwestern Missouri, where more than 20 fires raged.

Dust blown in from the Plains States hampered fire watchers in planes and towers.

In Kansas, whose wheat plains fed the dust storm, two died in a traffic mishap blamed on the storm. Scores of lesser accidents were reported.

Gruenther Says Attack Shows Reds' Hostility

OMAHA (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, says yesterday's attack on two U. S. planes by a Soviet-type aircraft near the German border gives new evidence of Russian hostility to the free world.

Gruenther, a native Nebraskan, spoke last night in connection with Omaha's centennial observance.

A Soviet propaganda campaign "to show there is no danger," he said, was belied by the attack.

Star Adds 'Rex Morgan,' 'Grin and Bear It' Cartoon

Starting Monday, The Star will publish two new features—an editorial page cartoon and a comic strip serial.

Brightening the editorial page each day will be "Grin and Bear It," by George Lichty. Pointed at the foibles of mankind and featuring Lichty's deft touch with satire, "Grin and Bear It" is one of the best-known cartoons of its type in the world. Many of Lichty's original cartoons hang in the White House, and senators and congressmen are among his ardent followers.

Bolstering The Star's list of comic strip serials will be "Rex Morgan, M.D." by Dal Curtis. Actually an illustrated dramatic serial rather than a comic, it features Dr. Morgan as the central figure in a constant succession of interesting episodes.

Don't miss the start of these two excellent features in Monday's Star!

Flanders Hits Proposal

Plan for Income Tax Cut Called 'Expensive Phony'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) today characterized as "an expensive phony" a plan of Sen. George (D-Ga) to cut individual income taxes by sharply raising exemptions for each taxpayer and his dependents.

Flanders made the remark in an interview as Republicans in both the Senate and House sought to tighten their lines against the Democratic drive to raise the exemptions.

Only 'Peanuts'

The Vermont senator, who serves on the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, said the George proposal would mean only "peanuts" to low-income taxpayers.

For instance, he said, the benefit would be only 80 cents a week to an individual in the low-wage bracket with no dependents.

But George's plan would be expensive to the government, he said, costing 4½ billion dollars in revenue this year, and about eight billion in succeeding years.

The veteran southerner, who is senior Democrat on the finance committee, proposes to boost the exemptions from the present $600 to $800 this year, and to $1,000 for 1955 and thereafter.

White House Strategy

George contends the exemptions are inadequate, pointing out they have not been raised since 1948. And he says the tax cut would counteract the present business downturn by increasing mass purchasing power.

Meanwhile, it seemed clear the administration's tax strategy on Capitol Hill would be to let 912 million dollars of excise tax cuts voted by the House Wednesday slide through the Senate without

Unemployment Continues Rise, Check Reveals

3,671,000 Jobless Counted in February By Bureau of Census

WASHINGTON (AP)—National unemployment, continuing its rise, reached 3,671,000 in February, by the latest government count.

It's anybody's guess whether the key March figure—published next month — will show the decline hoped for by President Eisenhower.

The President said some weeks ago that if the March jobless total fails to drop he will consider government action, including possible tax relief, to buoy the economy.

Up 584,000

The Census Bureau reported yesterday that unemployment, as measured by a new sampling method, rose 584,000 in February.

Another sampling method, which Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks said the Census Bureau is abandoning, showed February unemployment up 1,026,000 to a total 3,385,000.

There were substantial discrepancies between the two sets of figures — for instance, the new sample reported an 885,000 February increase in the civilian labor force while the old sample showed a 1,354,000 increase. The new sample indicated a 120,000 decline in non-farm employment but the old one registered a 47,000 increase.

Both methods involve checks at 25,000 households, but the new sampling is taken over a much wider area than the old.

Whatever the reason for the varying figures—and the Census Bureau said it couldn't give any right now—it appeared unemployment had climbed anywhere from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 in the four months since October, when 1,162,000 were reported as jobless.

Will Touch Off Controversy

The February jobless jump was sure to touch off new controversy about the condition of the nation's economy. The CIO, waiting with a statement when the census figures were announced, called the new total "a disgrace to America."

"It is essential," the CIO added, "that the government stop whistling in the dark about the economic problems facing every American, and get to work, now, to halt this dangerous rush toward a full-blown depression."

But some government spokesmen say there are signs the unemployment trend is slowing.

There are a few clues to what may happen to March unemployment but nothing so far conclusive.

For one thing, joblessness among workers covered by unemployment compensation rose only 33,000 in the two weeks Feb. 13-27. This was after the Census Bureau made its February count. But new claims for unemployment compensation were up 30,700 to 318,000 total for the week ended March 6.

Depend On Agriculture

If the unemployment trend in the manufacturing field is diminishing — and some government specialists say they think this is happening — the March situation may depend upon what happens in agriculture, where things largely hinge on the weather.

A year ago farm employment rose 350,000 between February and March. But in 1952 there was a 50,000 decline. Perhaps significantly, farm employment went up last month by 413,000 according to one census February count and 281,000 by the other.

State Controls Hit

Fight Shaping Over Bill For Sale of Natural Gas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said today he refuses to concede defeat in a fight against a bill to give the states greater power to regulate the sale of natural gas.

It has been approved by the House and has widespread support among Senate Republicans and Democrats.

The Illinois senator got into a hot exchange with Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), floor manager for the bill, before the Senate wound up its session late yesterday.

Pounds Desk

"A great many people who argue for state regulation," Douglas said, banging his hand down on his desk, "are against any regulation at all."

"And," Douglas added, "those who stand up against the gas and electric companies frequently don't get re-elected."

Douglas is up for re-election this year.

The white-haired Illinois senator said the facts are that state regulatory bodies more often than not permit gas and electric companies to boost their rates.

Bricker countered "there is just as sincere a desire in state regulatory bodies for the public interest as there is in federal agencies . . . state agencies actually are closer to the consumer."

The bill would permit state utility commissions to have exclusive authority in regulating rates of companies selling gas within the borders of the state.

That authority now rests in part with the Federal Power Commission.

Douglas, Sen. Burke (D-Ohio) and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) all spoke against the bill on the ground that passage would boost gas rates to consumers all over the country. In Ohio alone, Douglas said, the rates would go up 10½ million dollars.

Bricker said all the states are for the bill, that it would be a big help to consumers in that it would free utility firms from the cost of duplicate federal and state regulation.

Burke, former mayor of Cleveland who was appointed by Gov. Lausche to succeed the late Sen. Taft, said the bill would cost customers of the East Ohio Gas Co. of Cleveland up to three million dollars a year.

Bricker jumped up and walked toward Burke and from a distance of about 10 feet the two men debated in a lively, but polite manner.

Bricker Claims Savings

Bricker claimed it would reduce gas bills, not raise them. He said it would save the East Ohio Gas Co. $500,000 a year by removing the necessity of a special accounting system required by the federal commission.

Burke argued the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, which also regulates East Ohio's rates and would have sole authority under the bill, has "archaic" methods of figuring rates.

Bricker argued the bill would merely make clear the meaning of the original gas act, which he said was intended to give states sole authority over companies selling gas within their own boundaries.

The bill has not come to a vote.

ficials trying to sidetrack probes of Army matters.

Nixon said he will "not dodge the issues" in tonight's speech, which will be carried at 10:30 p.m., EST over CBS television and radio networks and those NBC radio stations which carried Stevenson's address a week ago.

But Nixon kept his own counsel as to the exact strategy he will use. There was no advance text of his speech. He left it open for any revision deemed necessary up to the moment of delivery. But he discussed his plans in a 45-minute conference yesterday with Eisenhower.

One congressional leader, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Nixon probably will name McCarthy specifically in his talk. This leader said there was no doubt that Nixon would cite President Eisenhower's legislative program as the big issue before the nation and would dispute Stevenson's contention that the administration has embraced "McCarthyism" as a campaign issue.

Administration Line

The administration line that appeared to be emerging was that McCarthy's methods of investigating alleged Communists are only a passing and sometimes unfortunate phase in the overall job of running the government.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa), one of Eisenhower's original 1952 supporters, said in an interview he believes the President's program is being imperiled by the controversy over McCarthy which has cut deep into the Republican party.

"If we don't stop this thing, there isn't going to be any program," Duff declared. "I think the country is fed up with the McCarthy wrangle — at least my mail indicates it is."

"McCarthy has overshot his mark," Duff declared. He added that the Army report on Cohn's activities seemed to him to be reasonable.

And criticism of McCarthy by Republicans reached even into his own subcommittee. Sen. Dirksen of Illinois accused McCarthy yesterday of breaking an agreement among GOP members by releasing the memoranda in answer to the Army report.

Dirksen also said in an interview the Republican members yesterday had agreed to meet, go over the Army report paragraph by paragraph and have Cohn present, under oath.

'Oversight'

Dirksen said he was waiting for the meeting to begin when Sen. Potter (R-Mich), another subcommittee member, called McCarthy and learned no meeting was to be held.

McCarthy said later it was "an inexcusable oversight" on his part that Dirksen had not been told about the meeting being called off. But he said he had "no choice" about the release of the material from the committee files.

Dirksen said, without elaborating, that Republican members have a responsibility with regard to the committee's staff and "I do mean to meet it."

"There will be no fooling about that—the matter has gone far enough," he said.

Horrified eyewitnesses, including friends and relatives of some of those aboard, said they saw only one of the plane's retractable wheels come down as the Constellation approached. One witness said he heard two explosions as the plane hit the ground.

An ambulance rushing some of the survivors to a nearby hospital was involved in a road accident and the patients had to be transferred to a police radio car for the rest of the trip.

Weather

The dust got so thick on the Oklahoma A. & M. basketball court at Stillwater that it had to be brushed off after every quarter in a regional tournament of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

A heavy pall of dust covered the upper two thirds of Texas last night and was expected to drift southeast over the state by morning.

Pushed ahead of the dust was a dense blanket of fog that cut visibility to less than a mile at Beaumont, Houston, Galveston and Brownsville.

Windy in Texas

Texas had its share of high winds, too, with gusts of up to 60 and 70 miles an hour reported at Dalhart.

Elsewhere, there were gusts up to 52 miles an hour in Oklahoma, 53 at Cheyenne, Wyo., and 41 at Pueblo, Colo.

A gust of 100 m.p.h. was reported at Fairfax Airport in Kansas City, Kan.

In Colorado and Wyoming the snow was diminishing after leaving up to six inches at Casper and Lander, Wyo., and four inches at Akron, Colo.

An estimated 300 motorists were stranded at various points in the two states, and 40 Colorado schools were closed.

In Nebraska the moving snowstorm also was disrupting transportation. One hundred and fifty passengers from six buses transferred to trains at Sidney last night. At Lincoln, the site of a state basketball tournament and a Democratic party meeting, hotels and motels had to turn away stranded travelers.

South Dakota reported the greatest snowfall in the Midwest area with 13 inches at Rapid City and 10 inches at Huron.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago reported the storm appeared moderating in intensity as it moved eastward into Illinois early today although strong winds continued from the Great Lakes region westward to the Rockies.

Dry weather prevailed over most areas west of the Rockies. The only wet spots over the Atlantic Coast states were in sections of Virginia and Maryland which reported light rain and drizzle. Showers hit the Gulf area, with fog in sections of the coast.

District Unit Set Up Here by Welding Group

North Central Ohio Section Organized At Dinner Meeting

Organization and election of officers for a North Central Ohio section of the American Welding Society was completed at a meeting held in Marion yesterday.

Originaly planned as a Marion division of the Columbus Section of the society, the decision to form a new and separate section was reached at a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbus section Friday afternoon at the Marion Power Shovel Co.

This meeting preceded a tour of the MPS plant by some 150 members of the AWS from Toledo, Cleveland, Columbus, and the north central Ohio area.

Following the tour some 140 members of the society met at Hotel Harding for a dinner meeting with Michael Shane of Cleveland as guest speaker.

Using as his topic "From the Ponderable to the Imponderable," Shane gave a semi-technical talk on the electrical industry and its relation to welding. He also discussed the welding society and its growth since its formation in 1919.

A. J. Busick, vice president in charge of engineering at Marion Power Shovel Co., also spoke briefly on welding and advances of welding techniques at the Marion plant.

John Courtright, president and general manager, expressed appreciation of the company for the opportunity of showing the members of the society through the plant. Both the tour and the dinner meeting were a part of the regular meeting of the Columbus section.

Presiding over the meeting in which the north central section was organized was John Blankenvuhler of Troy, district vice chairman of the society in Ohio. Others attending this portion of the meeting were Shane and R. J. Greene, of Ohio State University.

Officers of the new section elected were: Vincent Woodward of Lima, chairman; Robeert Ellison of Mansfield, first vice chairman; Terry Long of Findlay, second vice chairman, Howard Cary of Marion, secretary; and Solon McDonald of Mount Vernon, treasurer.

Board of directors was also elected. They are Bernard Bishop of Lima, James Dipert of Findlay, Charles Ziegler of Marion, Robert Kennedy of Lima, Roy Leiter of Ashland, and Walter Slob of Marion.

Police Report Two Accidents

One Driver Charged With Leaving Scene

Two minor traffic accidents — one a hit-skip — were reported state highway patrol and sheriff's deputies reported no accidents on county highways.

Charles L. Morgan, 27, of 1025 Bennett St. was charged with leaving the scene of an accident following a collision of his car with a car parked in front of 597 Pearl St. at 1:02 a.m. this morning.

Police said a witness told them he heard a crash and saw a car speed away from the parked car. He noted the license number of the speeding car 6and gave it to investigating officers. At 2:57 a.m. police had traced the license number to Morgan and arrested him on the hit-skip charge.

In Municipal Court this morning, Morgan pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $100 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for three years.

Only other accident reported was a fender bender involving cars driven by Paul E. Hempy, 16, of near Marion and William L. Huntsmen, 64, of 741 N. Main St. The collision occurred in front of 944 W. Center St. at 12:02 p.m. Friday.

Junior Swank is the third highest scoring player in Mansfield basketball history. He scored 455 points this season, averaging about 19 points per game.

1930 Figure Reached

Stock Market Retreats After Hitting High Point

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—The stock market inched up to a new 24-year high this week and then retreated.

With only a gentle nudge, the market, as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, broke through a new 1953-54 peak, highest level for the average since 1930.

No Fireworks

There were no fireworks involved in the final maneuver. Professional traders took the whole thing in stride.

Many in Wall Street felt, however, the general investing public might attach weighty significance to the new record and come rushing into the market.

Let's consider the market through the yardstick of The Associated Press average of 60 stocks.

On Thursday it gained 30 cents and reached $116.40, passing the previous 1953-54 high by 10 cents and reaching the highest levels since June 4 of 1930 when it stood at $116.60.

How high is that in relation to the big boom in 1929? Well, at the zenith of the great excitement, the Associated Press average hit $157.-70 on Sept. 3, 1929. Then it broke in the greatest crash in the history of securities. The average dropped to $83.80 before it caught its breath. Those are the extremes for that year.

The market rebounded from its low and climbed ahead into 1930 in a general recovery movement. It reached as high as $125.50 before it fell again.

The very height of the market presently has brought warnings of the possibility of a near-term reaction, a natural development following such a sustained rise.

There are several factors adding weight to the reaction theory. For one thing, there is the pressure of selling for cash to meet income tax payments. Another, and perhaps more important, is the fact that Monday is the six-month anniversary of the start of the recovery drive.

Profits made on the sale of stocks held six months count as long-term capital gains for tax purposes—a lower rate. As a consequence, from this point forward there will be the pressure of profit-taking for capital gains.

Most Active Issues

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange included:

Glenn Martin up 1⅝ at 21⅝ with 142,300 shares traded; U. S. Steel up ¾ at 41¾; Pepsi-Cola up ⅞ at 16½; Southern Pacific off 2 at 43⅜, and Radio Corp. up ½ at 27⅝.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange included:

Canada Southern Oils up ⅜ at 10¼; Coastal Caribbean Oils unchanged at 3½; Webb & Knapp up 1-16 at 13-16; Central Explorers up ¼ at 5⅛, and Muntz TV unchanged at 9-16.

Tax Cut

a serious fight, and to concentrate on beating the income tax exemption increases.

The Senate Finance Committee is to conduct hearings on the excise measure next week. It will hear Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's testimony in opposition to the cuts Wednesday.

However, key committee members said privately they knew of only two votes out of the 15 on the group in favor of knocking out the House excise reductions.

These presumably would be cast by Senators Byrd (D-Va) and Williams (R-Del). Both contend that the budget should be balanced before any further tax reductions are made.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the finance group said he expects the Senate to pass the excise bill in about the same form as the House sent it over.

But he said the administration could not stand the loss of revenue which an increase in personal income tax exemptions would mean.

Millikin pointed out there already is a prospective loss of about $7,300,000,000 in tax revenue this year—five billion through the 10 per cent individual income tax reduction and the wiping out of the excess profits tax on corporations which took effect Jan. 1; 912 million on the excise bill; and $1,400,000,000 through a big tax revision bill which the House will take up next week.

House Democrats plan to make their move on the exemptions on the revision bill; they will seek to boost them to $700. The vote promises to be exceedingly close.

N&W Railroad Hit By Damage Suits

CINCINNATI (AP) Three suits seeking a total of $350,000 in personal damages were filed against the Norfolk & Western Railroad Co., in U. S. District Court here today.

Jessie R. Hunt of South Shore, Ky., sued for $100,000 for injuries suffered in an accident Nov. 10, 1953 at Portsmouth, Ohio. Walker Stanley of Wheelersburg, asked for a similar amount in connection with injuries suffered in another accident at Portsmouth Oct. 20.

The third suit, seeking $150,000, was filed by Harry B. Canter of Sciotoville, in connection with injuries he alleged he received in an accident last Oct. 2 at Ragland, W. Va.

the sidewalk, mortally wounded.

The third officer, Vernon R. Chase, arrived just as two of the gunmen broke through a side door. One fired quickly and Chase was down a few feet from Hardy, a bullet wound in the chest.

The third kicked out a plate glass window and jumped through. He dropped a sack containing $90,800 as he fled.

The robbers' getaway automobile was found later, a few miles away, its motor still warm and a .45 caliber bullet on the front seat. No further clues of real import have been uncovered, police officials reported late last night.

Senators Fear Weather May Lower Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two senators with special interest in farm conditions said today they fear dust storms and continued drought on the Western cattle ranges may push beef prices down again this year and force emergency government purchases.

"Widespread drought might do this," Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said in an interview. "If it does, they can't blame the Republicans."

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture, said weather conditions might force liquidation of cattle herds for a second consecutive year.

Both senators agreed that if this happens Secretary of Agriculture Benson must step in again with an emergency beef buying program to keep cattle prices from sagging too low.

The case of vandalism was reported by Thomas Reed of 245 E. Church St. He said someone had removed the valve cores from two tires on his car while it was parked at the rear of his residence sometime Thursday night. He reported it to police at 5:22 p.m. Friday.

Barons Nail Second With 13-4 Win Over Louisville

Three Hat Tricks Scored; Final Game Slated Sunday

Marion's Barons, hungry for a playoff crack at the Cincinnati Mohawks blasted the Louisville Shooting Stars 13-4 last night at the Coliseum. It was the Barons' biggest offensive spurt of the season topping their former single game high of 10 goals against the same club.

The win gives the Barons a total of 78 points, enough to put them beyond the reach of the third-place Johnstown Jets. The Jets were breathing down Marion's neck for the runner-up spot but have only a 73-point total. They finish their season tonight against the Mohawks.

The Marion team was playing the game last night without the services of two of their front line aces. Joe Ingoldsby was out of action due to the illness of his son, born early yesterday at a Kenton hospital.

Murray Wilkie played with the Cleveland Barons last night in a 4-2 win over Pittsburgh. The Marion forward had no part in any of the Cleveland scoring but did manage to draw a five - minute penalty for fighting with Larry Cahan of the Hornets. Wilkie is subbing for the Barons' injured Ray Ceresino.

One of the smallest crowds of the season, estimated at less than 1,100 fans, saw the offensive burst of the Barons. Kenny Schultz led the way with four goals. It marked the second time this year a Marion skater had notched four. Gordie Vejprava turned the trick once. Also notching hat tricks were Hal Jones, his first, and Tony Poeta his second. Dutch Delmonte scored twice and Vejprava added the other goal. It was the fifth hat trick of the season for Schultz and deadlocked him with Vejprava for the International Hockey League lead in that department.

Score After 9 Seconds

The Barons wasted little time in getting the show on the road. Nine seconds after Hal Jones took the opening faceoff, Schultz scored the first of his goals. Tony Poeta took the pass from Jones and skated down on the Stars' goalie, Doug Coxon, favorite target of the Barons. Poeta passed over to Schultz and the Baron ace scored from three feet in front of the net.

Ken's second goal came in his second stint of action after 4:48 of play. Jones bore down on Coxon but his shot was batted out. Ted Lebioda powered a shot at Coxon and Schultz scored on a rebound from the corner of the goal. Before the first period ended, Poeta batted in another pair of goals to give Marion a 4-0 edge. His first came after 14:56 of play and the second was scored at the 18:49 mark. Hal Jones received assists on all four goals and Schultz also figured in them all.

Schultz completed his bid for the hat trick after 5:20 had passed in the second period. Lebioda assisted on the play. Poeta's final score came at the 6:08 mark with assists going to Jones and Schultz. Jones started his scoring spurt seconds later when he scored on a combination pass from Poeta and Lebioda at the 6:25 mark.

Louisville Spurts

The Louisville club came to life midway in the second stanza when the Baron defense lapsed. Ted Lebioda was slapped with one of two two-minute penalties called after 11:13 had passed. Seven seconds later Rolly Duranceau belted the Stars' first score past Goalie Lou Crowdis. Bernie Hill and Phil Dalglish were awarded assists, from Duranceau and Ray Marshall and Duranceau scored again at the 12:26 mark on assists from Marshall and Dalglish.

Before the period ended, Jones blasted his final two goals past Coxon. The second was notched at 14:37 with assists going to Poeta and Schultz and less than a minute later, at the 15:34 mark, he boosted the count to 9-3 for the Barons after a combination pass from Schultz and Steve Brklacich. The Stars were at full strength on all the Marion scores. Their only penalty came at 17.07 of the second period when Dalglish was charged with interference.

Joe Shaw wound up the Louisville scoring after 3:14 had gone by in the final period. Moose Mousseau and Frank Toyata assisted.

Dutch Delmonte broke the starting line's monopoly on scoring. He blasted one in at 9:47 after a pass from Wimpy Jones. Jones and Vejprava teamed up at the 12:50 mark to set up Delmonte's second score. Vejprava closed the Marion assault with 17:33 gone in the period. Delmonte and Coach Ott Heller were credited with assisting.

Hal Jones Tops

Despite Schultz's four - point spurt, Hal Jones was the Barons' biggest gun. He finished, the game with nine points to his credit, three goals and six assists. Schultz scored eight points to jump higher in the IHL scoring derby. Poeta netted six points and Delmonte had three.

Crowdis knocked away 35 Louisville shots and Coxon knocked out 34 scoring attempts by Marion.

The Barons will be at Grand Rapids for their final road game tonight and will return here Sunday afternoon for the closing game of the season. Johnstown will be here for the finale.

Following that game, the Turner Cup playoffs will get under way. First game will be played next Tuesday at the Cincinnati Gardens with the second game scheduled here Wednesday. Action returns to Cincinnati Thursday night and the fourth game is slated here next Saturday. The fifth game is scheduled for Sunday, March 21 at Cincinnati with the sixth in Marion on Tuesday, March 23. Should the seventh game be necessary it will be played at Cincinnati but no date has been set.

Thomas Leads Pirates to Win Against Braves

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Thomas, a 200-pound, six foot three outfielder with power in his bat, apparently is aiming to make Pittsburgh fans forget a pretty fair country hitter by the name of Ralph Kiner who once wore a Pirate uniform.

When Kiner was traded to the Chicago Cubs last year, the 24-year-old native of Pittsburgh took over the slugging chores. When the season was over the records showed he had hit 30 home runs, driven in 102 and batted .255.

And now Thomas is at it again. He clouted two home runs yesterday as the Pirates routed the Milwaukee Braves 25-11 in an exhibition game at Bradenton, Fla. The two circuit blows ran his total for the last three games to four.

Thomas' clouting seems to have been catching for the Pirates, generally picked to finish in the National League cellar the third straight year. The Bucs connected with six homers against the Braves to run their total to 15 in their last three games. Sid Gordon, obtained from the Braves hit one for his second of the week-old exhibition season. And Jerry Lynch, Jack Lohrke and Brandy Davis added the others.

Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee's home run king, slammed three triples while Danny O'Connell, acquired in the Gordon trade, and rookie Dick Sinovic hit homers for the Braves.

Del Ennis' two-run homer gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees and circuit drives played an important role in the triumphs of the New York Giants and Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Giants snapped a four-game losing streak with a 13-5 victory over Cleveland as Willie Mays slammed his third and fourth homers and rookie second baseman Ronnie Samford and Whitey Lockman contributed one each.

Cincinnati bunched 11 hits effectively to down a makeshift collection of Chicago White Sox rookies 11-7. Rocky Bridges, a .227 hitter for Cincinnati last season, drove in four runs.

Four runs on one hit in the eighth inning gave Brooklyn a 4-3 night victory over the Boston Red Sox and ended the American leaguers' five-game winning streak.

Shutout in Calder Cup Tilt Top Thrill

Moe Roberts Recalls 1-0 Win for Barons in Title Contest

By ROBERT LISTON

"My biggest thrill? That's easy. The final game of the playoffs of the American Hockey League — the game that would crown a winner of the Calder Cup for the 1938-39 season. It had been a close series, having gone down to the seventh and deciding game. Both teams were at their peak, the Cleveland Barons vs. the Philadelphia Ramblers. I shut out the Ramblers, 1-0, to win the cup. It was my fourth shutout in nine playoff games."

Those words were spoken by Morris (Moe) Roberts, former goalie with the Cleveland Barons and the Chicago Blackhawks and now manager of public skating at the Coliseum here.

"MOE" LOOKS BACK with many fond memories on a professional hockey career which embraces 26 years of goal tending.

He was born in Connecticut—he won't say when as he admits only to being in his "Middle forties"—and learned his hockey in Somerville, Mass. during high school. In 1926, at the age of 18, he turned pro with the Boston Bruins "I was one of the first American-born pro hockey players," he says. "Most of them are Canadians."

He was farmed out to New Haven and eventually sold to the New York Americans in 1930. The following year he was traded to Cleveland where he remained until 1942. "I played first at the Elysium and then moved with the club into the Cleveland Arena when it was built."

In 1942 he went into the Navy, serving three and one-half years, most of it overseas aboard the cruiser, U.S.S. Milwaukee. After the war, he went, coincidentally, to Milwaukee, where he designed the new arean there for ice and managed the skating rink. He stayed there for five years until the Milwaukee Seagulls, an entry in the United States Hockey League, folded in 1950.

Then, he accepted an offer from the Blackhawks of the National Hockey League to be spare goalie and skate sharpener.

IT WAS WITH THE Blackhawks that Moe played his last pro game in November, 1952. It was a perfect bow-out to a brilliant career. Sports fans will remember that Babe Ruth hit three home runs his last game with the Boston Braves. Observers said his last homer was his greatest. Well, Moe went in against the powerful, high-scoring Detroit Red Wings after the regular goalie, Harry Lumley, was injured and shut them out for two periods. Chicago lost the game, 4-2, but Moe, an "old man" and way past his prime, bowed out in "great" style.

Though the Blackhawks wanted him to stay on, "Moe" came to Marion because his wife's parents lived near by.

He has a world of memories that ought to be passed on, if only as encouragement to young players. "I don't think the young boys have the enthusiasm for the game that we had in the old days. You've got to love the game and play it for sheer enjoyment. Moe must have enjoyed it; he had 150 stitches taken in his face and has the scars to prove it.

He thinks the greatest teammates he had in his long career were forward Les Cunningham and Freddie Robertson, defenseman. Both these men were Barons greats in the middle 1930's. His toughest foe came from the same period—Clint Smith of Philadelphia. But the greatest hockey players in general Moe thinks were Howie Morenz, former center with Montreal, and Bill Cook. "Bill was the finest all around player, a great scorer but vastly underrated on defense."

THE FORMER CLEVELAND goalie had more good things to say about Cook, who was his coach with the Barons and who still holds the position. It was a pleasure to play for Bill Cook. He was stern but a great competitor. He had the knack of getting you to play your best game."

High praise also went to Al Sutphin. Moe called him the "smartest promoter hockey has ever known. Al had foresight. He helped hockey all over the country and in Canada, too. He certainly put it over in Cleveland."

Commenting on the current Cleveland Barons' slump, Moe recalled that teams he played on had them from time to time. "We just went back to good, fundamental, defensive hockey and managed to ride through them."

About the International Hockey League and the Marion Barons, he said the league should make a go of it if the cities aren't too spread out. "They play a pretty fair brand of hockey." Concerning Marion's chances in the approaching playoffs, Moe thought "Cincinnati is pretty hot, but the Barons have a good chance against them."

He lives on a farm near Marion with his wife, LaVerne, and children, Billy, 5, Rosalind, 3, and Faith, 2.

SIGHTING DOWN THE BLADE of an ice skate is Moe Roberts—just like the sign says. The sign doesn't say—and it should—that he was a great player with the Cleveland Barons and the Chicago Blackhawks. It doesn't say, for instance, that he hung up his skates after a colorful career that spanned 26 years in the world's roughest sport. Moe is now manager of public skating at the coliseum and is in charge of the skate room. This week he assumed duties as trainer for the Marion Barons after Jack Boag departed.

AC Notches Victory in Opening Of Y Event; Irish Seniors Fall

The Marion AC Farm Bureau and Garvin's Sunoco captured first round games in the YMCA Invitational Basketball Tournament Friday night at the YMCA.

The AC's defeated McMillen Feed in the opener 57-46 after overcoming a 19-8 first period lead by McMillen. The winners scored a total of 23 points in the final period to 11 for the losers to spell the difference. Wilbur Brown had 18 points to pace the AC's while Dick Jones was high for McMillen with 9. The Farm Bureau of Cardington jumped to an early lead over Lennon's Furniture, a team composed of St. Mary High School seniors to win 62-53. The Irish had a disastrous first quarter, dropping behind by a 17-4 count but roared back to tie it up in the third period. Dick Howard had a total of 22 points to lead the winners while "Butch" Merchant with 23 was the high for both squads.

Garvins of Bucyrus ran wild over the Wyandot Vaults 93-39. Holding a slim 16-12 first quarter lead the winners broke loose in the final three periods with an exhibition of dead - eye shooting that netted them nearly 100 points, a total never reached on the local court. Jim Miller had 25 points to head the Garvins attack while Weaver's 8 was the best for the Wyandot Vaults.

Toledo School Whips Tygers, Gains Regional

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's high school basketeers throw their payoff punches tonight in a galaxy of star-studded district tournament finals which will send winners on to next week's regional play.

Six Class B clubs, which have a combined record of 134 wins against 13 defeats, already have regional berths clinched. Ten others will be named in tonight's play.

In Class A, only Toledo Macomber with a 17-3 record is in the regional fold. The Macomber club made it last night with a 67-54 win over Mansfield. The other 15 will be decided tonight and Monday, the Kent district games having been delayed by heavy snows.

Lockland Wayne, the top-ranked Class B team in the final Associated Press poll, was almost upset in the Cincinnati district finals but managed to eke out a 40-39 victory over Cincinnati Deporres. The lead switched 22 times in the see-saw scrap, but Denny Ballew put it on ice with three points in the final minute. Deporres missed three rebounds in the last 14 seconds to muff its chance at a Troy regional position.

Some classics are on tap tonight. Middletown's mighty Middies, winners of the Class A crown the last 2 years and 5 of the last 10, meet Dayton Roosevelt in one feature at Dayton. The Middies have a 19-2 record, one of the losses being to Roosevelt in the early season. Roosevelt has a 19-1 record, only a 2-point loss to Hamilton marring its record.

Middletown reached the district finals last night with a 79-60 win over Franklin, while Roosevelt defeated Dayton Stivers, eight-time winner of the state crown, by 56-45.

Another big one sends Columbus South (18-4) against Columbus North (22-1) for a berth in the Toledo regional. The teams have met twice, and each holds a one-point victory over the other.

Tecumseh continued down the unbeaten trail last night, making it 21 in a row with a 59-51 win over two-time champion Springfield. Frank Shannon's unsullied squad takes on Bellefontaine (17-1) tonight, to see which joins the Dayton, Cincinnati and Athens winners in the Queen City regional.

Two unbeaten teams, Vienna (29-0) and Copley (23-0), reached the Class B regionals last night and will appear in the northeastern area regional along with Columbiana (18-5) and one of the eastern district representatives, Tuscarawas (22-2).

Sycamore, the only other unbeaten Class B club, will try to make it 28 in a row tonight as it tangles with Huron (18-1) at Mansfield.

Only one big upset featured yesterday's play, the famed Columbiana Clippers, 1947 Class B champs, boosting their record to 19-5 with a 62-49 victory which wrecked the 27-1 season of Wayne County Northwestern.

Mike Allen, 6-foot 8½-inch center for New Lexington St. Aloysius, provided a milder upset as he scored 47 points in the 76-68 win over Ames-Bern (22-4) at Athens. New Lexington boosted its record to 20-4 as it moved into regional play despite a 35-point splurge by Olan Koehler of the losers.

Mansfield, Dayton Suvers and Springfield, who bowed out last night, were all former state Class A champs. Former crown-wearers still in the race are Portsmouth, Dayton Roosevelt, Hamilton and Middletown, but either Middletown or Roosevelt must fall tonight.

Huron, Columbiana, Delphos St. John and Lockland Wayne, all former Class B kings, are still firing.

Irish Cagers Nip Indiana In Tourney

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—With the defending champion on the outside looking in, Notre Dame loomed today as the team to beat in the NCAA post-season basketball tournament.

But the Irish, who stunned Indiana, the 1953 winner, last night by the margin of a single point—65-64—must go up against Penn State, another upset-minded outfit tonight in Iowa City in the quarter-finals.

Other quarter-final round games tonight pit Navy against La Salle at Philadelphia, Bradley against Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater, Okla., and Southern California against Santa Clara at Corvallis, Ore. The winners will move on to the semi-finals and finals next weekend in Kansas City.

It was ironic that Branch McCracken's Indiana team, the Big 10 champion, should make its exit by one point, for last year the Hoosiers won the title by the same margin over Kansas. It was a real shocker for McCracken has said he considered his 1954 quintet one of his best.

But Notre Dame in general and daring Dick Rosenthal in particular, were not awed by the feared Hoosiers from Bloomington, Ind. Rosenthal dropped in 25 points, made a free throw 15 seconds before the end that provided the eventual margin of victory and completely throttled all-America Don Schlundt who made but one field goal.

Rosenthal collapsed and became ill on the sidelines with a little more than a minute to play. He summoned enough strength, however, to play the final seconds. It was a fine all-around performance by the courageous youngster.

Penn State, for its part, upended Louisiana State 78-70 in the other half of the Iowa City doubleheader so Notre Dame will have its hands full.

The other round of 16 games did not provide any startling form reversals. La Salle whipped North Carolina State 88-81 and Navy edged Cornell 69-67 in Philadelphia; Oklahoma A&M slugged Rice 51-45 and Bradley turned back Colorado 76-64 at Stillwater, and at Corvallis, Southern California dumped Idaho State 73-59 and Santa Clara halted Colorado A&M 73-50.

Penn State, an at-large entry like Notre Dame, must be an underrated team. The Nittany Lions couldn't do much with LSU's all-America, Bob Pettit, who poured 34 points through the hoop, but they did stop his mates.

Jesse Arnelt was high man for Penn State with 24 points.

Another all-America, Tom Gola of La Salle, had better luck than Pettit. He scored 26 points and grabbed the same number of rebounds in his team's triumph over North Carolina State. The game was close until the last five minutes.

The other half of the Philadelphia twin bill was a real thriller and unheralded Ken McCally turned out to be the big gun in Navy's victory over Cornell. He made only one basket—but it was the winning one with three seconds to go.

Bradley's victory over Colorado was engineered to a great extent by Bob Carney, who set a new NCAA record for foul shots hitting for 23 of them. He totaled 37 points for the game. Seattle's Johnny O'Brien held the old foul record—18.

Another upset looked in the making for three periods of the Oklahoma A&M Rice contest. At one point in the third period, the Southwest Conference champions were ahead by 10 points. But the Aggies found the range in the final quarter and pulled away.

Roy Irvin was the big gun for Southern California, the Pacific Coast champion. He scored 25 points, while the rest of the Trojans were permitting Idaho State few good shots.

Controls Road Revenues

Legislature Has Say on Road Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state Legislature has a lot to do with engineering work on Ohio's major thoroughfares, whether it realizes it or not.

That's because it has the final and only say on whether new road revenues can be used in planning huge projects designed to revamp Ohio's major thoroughfare system. The new revenues come from the last one cent a gallon gasoline tax and the axle-mile tax on trucks.

Funds Pouring In

These funds have been pouring into the State Highway Construction Council road building fund. Practically all the money the council will get will go into this year's 115 million dollar road program.

The middle of next year these new revenues go into a fund the state will use to retire half a billion dollars in road bonds, which are yet to be issued.

But you can't build roads without plans, and plans take a heap of engineering work. The engineering, both preliminary and construction engineering, can eat up 10 or 12 per cent of a project's entire cost.

The state can sell up to 125 million dollars worth of road bonds a year—but bond money can't be used for engineering.

But if funds set aside to retire the bonds are larger than needed, the amount left over can be used for engineering—if the Legislature appropriates the money for that.

If the Legislature does not, engineering money either must be found elsewhere or projects don't get very far along.

The state highway department has had to do a bit of legal juggling of funds to get the 115 million dollar 1954 major road program under way.

Program Approved

The recent special session of the Legislature approved the governor's road program to be built with "council funds." When the highway department saw it needed eight million dollars of council money for engineering so it could keep working up new projects.

The highway department still gets its highway improvement fund, which amounts to 12 million dollars a year. This money is for the 12,000 miles of state roads not deemed important enough to be included in the 6,200 miles of major state thoroughfares.

This money comes from the second 2 cents of the 5 cents in state gasoline taxes you pay. It can be used for engineering, and is being so used. But every dime spent for engineering means 10 cents less available for use on keeping up the secondary roads.

It probably will be June 1 before road bond money is available for use. First bonds can be sold after April 19, and the money should be in the treasury by June 1. It won't be needed before then, the department says.

That's the money that will pay for the bulk of Ohio's 140 to 150 million dollar a year major road building program. Local governments and the federal government will pay the rest of the bill.

No. 5 in a series of RARE CREATURES:

THE SILVER-THROATED WOO

pours his heart out to the retailer and forgets about the customer

The Woo is a manufacturer who thinks his fate is in the hands of retailers ALONE.

He pours out his heart and gold and prizes to storekeepers — then has nothing left to woo the shopper — the one who BUYS his product.

Naturally the importance of newspaper advertising escapes him, just as his customers do.

Fortunately the Woo is a rare creature. Most manufacturers know that it's smart to woo the storekeepers — but even smarter to win the CONSUMER'S lasting love!

So the wise manufacturer does just what the storekeeper himself does — he advertises IN NEWSPAPERS.

Which is plain common sense, because practically everybody in town reads the newspaper . . . relies on it for shopping help.

No wonder advertisers throughout the nation spent a record-breaking $2,655,500,000* in newspapers last year — twice as much as in any other medium!

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

Home Workshop Project

Early American Spoon Rack Shows Silverware

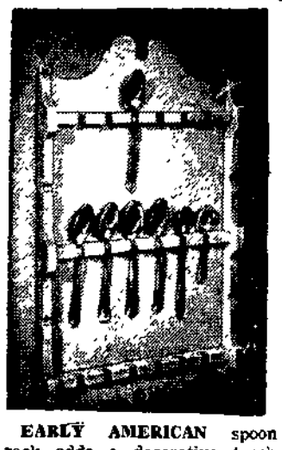
An old-fashioned spoon rack of pine in early American design is an easy project for the home workshop. It is an accessory that enables the homemaker to maintain that slogan of "a place for everything and everything in its place."

Besides it provides an opportunity to display the beauty of family heirlooms or some of those silver specialties now imported from Scandinavia.

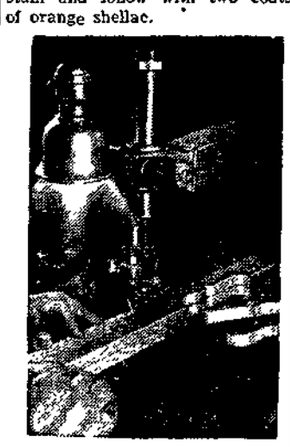
This spoon rack was designed by the Delta power tool division of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co., to hold 18 pieces. The sides and rack are made of half - inch stock. The back is a quarter-inch panel set in the rabbet of the sides.

Tack the sides together and cut the scroll design at one time. The racks are also tacked together for drilling on the press with a 3-8-inch drill. Slotting can be done on either a scroll or band saw.

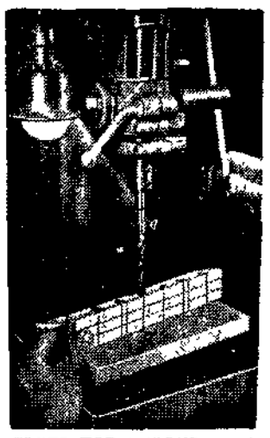
Sand the project thoroughly, especially the edges, for a worn effect. Finish with a light cherry stain and follow with two coats of orange shellac.



EARLY AMERICAN spoon rack adds a decorative touch to kitchen or dining room.



A UNIFORM SCROLL design is easy to get by tacking two sides together.



SLOTS FOR SPOONS can be started on drill press and finished on band saw.

Door Becomes Bar, Part of Wall Area

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Dr. and Mrs. William Capeller answered the question of "when is a door not a door?" when they remodeled their home in San Francisco.

The door which led from their dining-living room area to a small hall, off which the kitchen and patio open, became a door-bar.

A Dutch type door was installed of the same wood that paneled the hall. The top half of the door is plain and can be swung free. The lower half is smooth on one side but is equipped with enclosed shelves and a top counter on the other.

The counter can either be used as a service counter or a pass-through counter from the kitchen.

The cabinets on the lower part of the door are used for beverage storage and the small shelves directly under the counter store cocktail accessories.

When both halves of the door are closed, it becomes part of the living-dining area wall.

Flush-Type Doors Give Older Houses Smart Appearance

Much can be done toward creating a smart, modern appearance in older houses by providing flush-type doors. To accomplish this with minimum effort and cost, merely cover each side of the existing oldstyle panel-type doors with sheets of plywood.

After making sure the door is structurally sound and not warped, remove all the old hardware. Saw two panels of plywood to the exact size of the door. Spread a thin coat of wood glue about two inches wide all around the face of the door and spots of glue on other portions of the surface where the plywood will rest.

Making sure the corners are absolutely true, put the plywood in place on one side and fasten it with short finishing nails at one-foot intervals. Countersink the nails, fill the holes with plastic wood, and sand smooth. Repeat the process on the other side. Then drill holes at the proper points on the plywood surface, install modern hardware, and paint or stain the door any color desired; or it can be left with its smooth, satin natural finish.

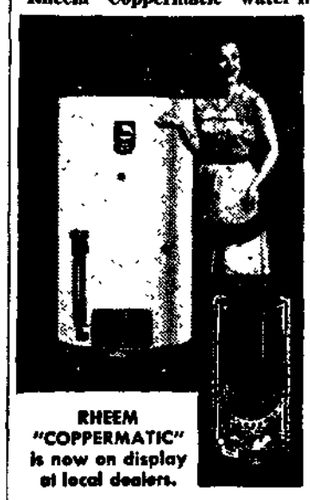
New! Low-Cost Answer To Local Corrosion!
AMAZING RUSTPROOF RHEEM "COPPERMATIC" WATER HEATER HERE!
New! Copper Tank Adds Years of Service;
New Design Increases Heating Speed;
Priced Low for Popular Use!
The costly, high local replacement rate for ordinary water heaters, due to natural corrosive action of soft water on most metals, can be cut dramatically by the revolutionary new Rheem "Coppermatic" water heater.


RHEEM "COPPERMATIC" is now on display at local dealers.
By means of a completely new design — a tank of pure copper inside a tank of steel—this new heater stops rust completely and will resist water corrosion many years longer than ordinary heaters.
Pressure-Proved
In addition to its exceptional resistance to water damage, the new heater has remarkable strength under high pressures. Each tank is pressure-proved before delivery, at double normal working pressures. Faster heating is possible, too, resulting from the capsule shape of both tanks and a new exclusive multiple-flue system. Together, they greatly increase the usual heating area.
FREE! Before you buy any water heater, write us for free informative folder on the new Rheem "Coppermatic."

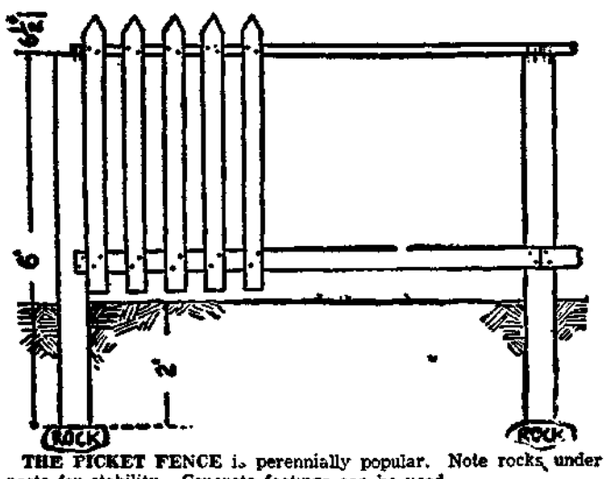
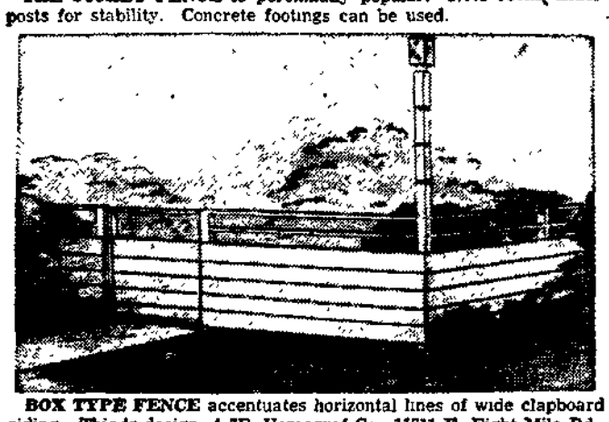
Tips for Building It

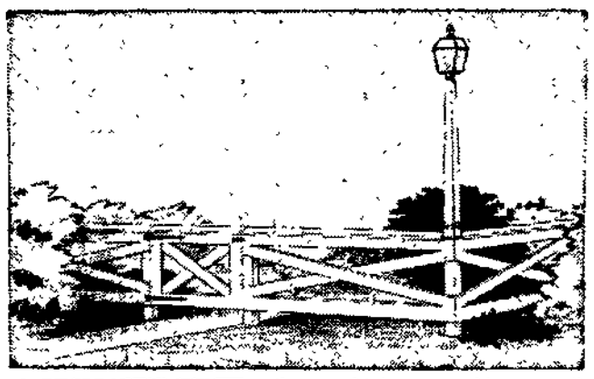
Fence Beautifies House, Cuts Down Lawn Traffic



THE PICKET FENCE is perennially popular. Note rocks under posts for stability. Concrete footings can be used.



BOX TYPE FENCE accentuates horizontal lines of wide clapboard siding. This is design, A-7B, Homograf Co., 11711 E. Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich.



A DECORATIVE FENCE with wrought iron snap hinges on the gate. This is a Make-It-Yourself Homograf design, A-6.

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

A fence around your house can be like a frame around a picture when properly proportioned and designed.

At the same time it can serve utilitarian purposes, discouraging cross traffic over the lawn and through flower beds, keeping dogs in or out and protecting children.

The best way to plan a fence is to cruise around your neighborhood, look at other people's fences and try to figure out why they built them the way they are. The right fence can do a lot for the appearance of a house.

THERE AREN'T any hard and fast rules for fences. Very often a low fence of less than 3 feet will look the best in connection with a one-story rambling type of home, while a 3 to 4 foot fence will seem to be more in proportion to a two-story house. But if there is a utility factor, such as confining or excluding dogs, a 4-foot fence is usually a minimum.

Spacing of pickets also depends on preference and utility. Generally, the spaces between pickets equals the width of the picket. Some people contend that narrower or wider spaces add interest to the design. Narrower spaces naturally provide more privacy behind the fence.

Fence posts for a wood fence should be of four by four lumber. If your fence is to be four feet high, the posts should be six feet long to allow for two feet underground. The part of the post to be buried should be dipped, painted or otherwise treated with creosote or other wood preservatives to resist decay and the treatment should extend four to six inches above the ground level.

FOR THE AVERAGE fence, posts are spaced about eight feet apart and stringers or rails — the horizontal members of the fence framing—are two by fours. For a picket fence, the bottom rail is about five or six inches from the ground and the top rail often is set on top of the posts with the pickets rising above this line.

A smart precaution in building a picket fense is to slant the tops of the posts, so the top rail will slant and rain will readily drain off away from the fence. The bottom rail also can be slightly slanted in the same direction.

Use rust-proof nails—aluminum nails, for instance, will mean freedom of rust spots on your fence.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: I have a problem with birds nesting in an aluminum awning which is over a porch in front of my house. I have covered all open eaves and even went so far as to hang dolls, but to no avail Do you know of any possible item that I could use to repel these birds?

A: In most instances good results have been obtained by hanging strips of white cloth so that they will readily move in the breeze. Several of my readers have had good results by placing toy snakes on the roof or awning. These can be purchased at novelty shops and some toy shops.

Q: I have gray carpeting which is about a year old and three or four inches of the edge has turned dark. I have used several advertised products which improve the looks for a few weeks and then it seems to turn dark again. It really makes that part of the rug dirty looking and I would appreciate it if you could recommend some solution.

A: the dark edges develop because the carpet sweeper and the vacuum cleaner do not touch the edge of the carpeting; therefore dirt, dust and soot accumulate for this distance. In between shampooing, I suggest brushing the edges away from the wall so that the vacuum cleaner or sweeper will pick up the dirt.

Q: Our problem is that the storm windows on the outside get steamed up when we have heat on in winter. There is a small hole in the center of the window sill to let out water. What do you suggest?

A: If the inside permanent windows are loose-fitting, it is probable that warm air and a fair amount of humidity leak through into the space between the two windows. Weatherstripping of the permanent windows should help correct the condition. The installation of a small vent in the bottom rail of the storm sash relieves the accumulation of vapor. If this is not possible, open the storm sash panel "a small crack" to accomplish the same purpose.

Q: The metal tile in my bathroom is chipped and discolored. Is it possible to go over the entire surface with lacquer in a darker shade to refresh and improve the appearance?

A: First dull the gloss by rubbing with steel wool or "00" sandpaper, then wash the surfaces with a detergent to remove dust and soil marks. After rinsing thoroughly, allow the tile to dry and apply a coat of enamel undercoater, then finish with a good grade of enamel. Lacquer would not be advisable because it may have a solvent action on the finish now on the tile and the color may not come out as desired.

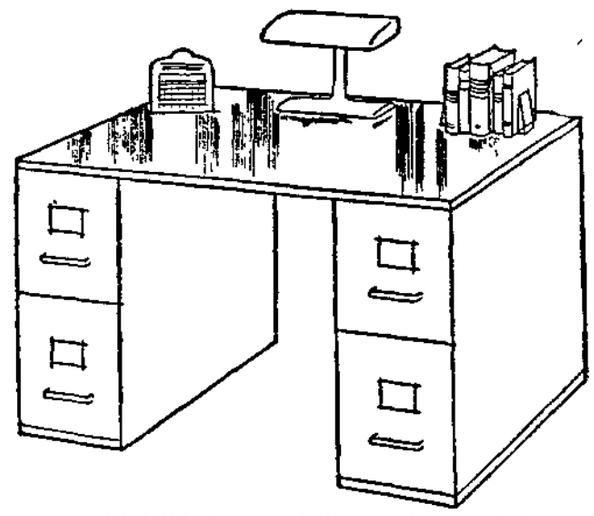
Desk Built of Cabinets



ANY HOUSEHOLD today involves pretty big business with all the service contracts involved in modern equipment, household bills, installment buying, insurance, and personal income taxes.

One of the easiest ways to build a servicable business desk on a minimum outlay is to use two old standard two - drawer filing cabinets with a suitable desk-top surface spread over and between them. A sheet of modern plywood finished with hardboard facings, such as Presdply, provides an unbroken surface.

You can get plywood of this type at your lumber yard in ¾-inch thickness. Space the filing cabinets 24 inches apart to allow for leg room and measure accordingly. Drill holes in the cases—one near the front and another about half way back near the extreme outer edges — and fasten the top with wood screws applied from the under side.

The UMW recently launched a drive to organize about 50 strip mines in eastern Ohio.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Of all the emergencies which may spring up in the average home, none, outside of a fire, creates the panic which is brought about by a sudden burst in a pipe with the resulting deluge of water. This being the case every homeowner should know where the valve is that controls the water supply. When you know that, you can immediately shut off the pressure and go about making repairs. No repair can ever be made on a water pipe which is under pressure.

Most slow leaks start where the pipe has been threaded so as to enable it to be screwed into a value or a fitting. This is because the cutting of the thread weakens the wall of the pipe. Such slow leaks can often be caulked up temporarily by tapping the thread nearest the valve or fitting with a sharp screwdriver and a hammer to drive it close to the joint.

A leak or burst in a pipe can often be repaired by first shutting off the water pressure, drying the surface of the pipe as well as possible and then wrapping the break tightly with several thicknesses of electricians' tape. Such a repair stops heavy gushing if it does nothing else.

A more or less permanent repair can be made by using a pipe-clamp. This is a round cylinder, split into two halves which can be brought tightly together by means of nuts or screws through the four flanges as shown. It is lined with a sheet of rubber. When opened and set around the pipe and then screwed up tight, it will hold any normal household water pressure. Such repairs have been known to last for years.

The main thing in preparing for trouble is to locate the control valve in your house and learn how to shut it off.

AN AUTOMATIC fire alarm for basement stairways — the first place heat collects from basement fires — has been designed for use without electric wiring. It works with a tank of freon — the safety gas used in modern refrigerators.

As soon as a temperature of 140 degrees collects under its hood, the alarm releases a thermostatic valve allowing compressed gas to blow a 95-decibel siren. The horn blows for five minutes. The alarm retails for less than $10.

Designer Uses Fabric Covers For Wallpaper

PARIS (INS) — No need to mess around with wet paint or sticky paper to redecorate your walls. You can use fabric covers made like drapes to dress up your home.

Paule Marrot, a Paris fabric designer and decorator, uses textiles, especially cottons, for effective and artistic interior decoration. Very charming and special effects are obtained by covering whole walls with cotton drapes instead of new paper or paint.

The disadvantage is in the price: fabric is more expensive than a bucket of paint or a roll of wallpaper.

A bed-room, for instance, looks fluffy if a light turquoise cotton fabric with fine pink plaid checks covers the walls. The bed-cover should be a matching pink and the carpets turquoise

For a boudoir the suggestion is white cotton fabric with a design of natural sized bouquets of blue hyacinths, while garlands of ivy on a light grey background are effective for a dining room.

These wall drapes should be slightly frilled along the ceiling and reach down to the floor. You can hang pictures and paintings over them.

All the decoration textiles by Miss Marrot have back-to-nature colors and child-like serenity. An effective chintz for interior decoration comes with a design of natural sized and multicolored butterflies on a black background. It can be used for drapes or cushions. One fabric is printed with different sorts of salad leaves on a white background, looking appetizing in a dining room.

If your room has light and plain walls, this decorator suggests striped window drapes. For a modern note she proposes orange and purple stripes on one side and purple and green on the other side of the window. More conservative are drapes with a pattern of green ferns on a powder-grey background.

Building Permits

Five building permits with a total valuation of $16,260 were issued at the Marion City Clerk's office in the week from March 5 through 11.

Permits were issued to: Duo Construction Co. of Bellefontaine Ave. and Miami St., new house on Whitmore St., $9,000.

Charles Fazio, home on S. Seffner Ave., $7,000.

Ralph Davis, 232 Oak St. enclose porch, $150.

Albert Williams, 585 E. Mark St., remodel porch, $50.

Calvin Harper, 856 Adams St., addition to house, $60.

Architect Advises Builders To Avoid Fashion in Homes

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Architect Edgar A. Payne advises homebuilders to avoid fashion and build homes that suit the family

"If a young couple has individuality and the average amount of common sense, it will not put up a pattern house or a duplicate of the one next door," Payne said

It is the same principle that there is no real lasting pleasure in the possession of a chromo, no matter how cleverly or handsomely framed, if duplicates are easily obtained. Sameness renders any object common and distasteful, he said.

Payne figures following fashion in house design is foolish and as short-lived as fashions usually are. Fashions change rapidly and your ideal house soon becomes stale and out-dated. The only way to get a house thoroughly suitable is to study the habits, customs and needs of the family; then plan the house to suit.

The shape, color and form of a house define very closely the character, education and taste of its owners. In designing a house, Payne said, it is well to bear in mind one or two things—utility and beauty. In good architecture, these go hand in hand.

No ornamental feature should be put on a building unless it has reason for being there. It should be useful and indispensable to good construction.

Home means rest, quiet and simplicity. A house need not be bare and overly simple, but simplicity of design must be the keynote to follow.

Monroe County Sheriff Named Best by Eagles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Francis L. Sulsberger, 33-year-old sheriff of Monroe County, was named Ohio's outstanding sheriff of 1953 by the Ohio State Aerie of Eagles last night.

This is the first time the Eagles have picked an "outstanding sheriff." Sulsberger will receive the award in June at the Eagles state convention in Cleveland.

Sulsberger received the award for solving the mystery surrounding the death of Ben Shook, a pensioner whose body was found in his burned shack in Laings, Monroe County. His death, first believed to be accidental, was proved by Sulsberger to have been murder. Shook's slayer is now serving a life term in Ohio Penitentiary.

Less than 48 hours after solving the Shook murder, Sulsberger captured Charles Eikleberry and William Vandale, later convicted of the murder of Sheriff Ben K. Perry of Adams County.

Honorable mention went to Dean McAllister of Wyandot County for criminal investigation; H. W. Grossglaus, Stark County, legislative work; William Hirsch, Lucas County, police administration, and Jesse H. Foster, Pike County, for his work in handling law enforcement problems in the atomic plant area.

GM Blames Tank Fault On 'Engineering Detail'

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. says in answer to reports that hundreds of GM-built tanks have broken down that it will "stand behind the products it delivers to the United States government."

GM blamed an "engineering detail" for defects in tank transmissions manufactured by its Allison division.

Col. Jean E. Engler, commander of the Army's tank-automotive center at Detroit, had said a faulty screw in transmission assemblies forced emergency overhaul of hundreds of tanks.

Closing of Hat Shop Marks End Of 100-Year-Old Business Here

When Miss Bertha Irey, one of Marion's pioneer business women, retired last month and closed the door of the Irey Millinery Shop at 124 W. Center St. for the last time, some Marionites felt it marked the passage of another era of local history.

The shop had its beginning in pre-Civil War days. Originally, a "Mother Thomas" operated the shop.

Joining here as a saleslady was a young Marion girl, Jennie McGuire. She soon became a Civil War bride, marrying Byron Thomas, son of the owner.

Later, the daughter-in-law took over the management of the millinery shop, and employed Mrs. William O'Connor, now residing at 1014 Mt. Vernon Ave., and Miss Irey, who now makes her home at 631 Mt. Vernon Ave., to assist her.

Also associated with Mrs. Thomas in the operation of the shop was Miss Mary S. Kull who made her home with her.

When Mrs. Thomas retired, Mrs. O'Connor and Miss Irey bought the business, and nine years later Miss Irey bought out Mrs. O'Connor's interest.

Miss Irey continued management of the shop until she closed it last month.

Miss Irey was born in Marion on March 5, 1871, the daughter of Harrison and Sarah Howser Irey.

Patrolman Enters Plea of Not Guilty In Hit-Skip Death

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—A suspended state highway patrolman pleaded innocent yesterday to a manslaughter charge in the hit-skip death of a Coal Grove policeman.

Brickles was off-duty at the time of the accident and was not driving a state car, investigators said.

Other charges, including reckless driving and speeding, will be held in abeyance pending completion of the manslaughter case, Ironton City Solicitor Homer Edwards said.

Parents Urged To Help End School Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Clyde Hissong, state director of education, yesterday urged parents of striking students at South Point High School in Lawrence County to "get them back in school."

Hissong said defiance of authority "with or without the tacit approval of parents," is becoming an increasingly difficult problem. He said it must end or "good teaching will be impossible."

Between 75 and 100 South Point High School students continued the strike yesterday, the third day of the walkout. The striking students won support of a majority of about 250 adults who attended a meeting with school board members Thursday night.

Three of five board members promised a special meeting Monday night. The students walked out in protest to the firing of two teachers.

In the Light of the Fire

A Sermonette

By REV. LESTER L. ZIMMERMAN
Pastor of First Church of the Nazarene

"And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the hall, and were set down together, Peter sat down among them."
— Luke 22:55

What a spectacle! Peter, one of the twelve, the leader of the group and their spokesman, now in the midst of the enemies of Christ. Peter, who had been with Christ on the Mount of Transfiguration, in the upper room and in Gethsemane; Peter, who a little while ago had unsheathed his sword to protect Jesus, is now unleashing his tongue to betray Him.

PETER WAS COLD. This coldness began earlier in the night, as he slept while Jesus faced the cross. The Lord had commanded him to watch and pray, but he had fallen asleep, perhaps to dream of a chief place in the kingdom while Christ was becoming the servant of all.

Following Jesus afar off will get any Christian into trouble. Peter found it so. He had vowed that he would never forsake his Lord, but now he is so far away that he can neither see Him or get any warmth from Him. Soon his lagging in courage results in actual retreat. He denies he ever knew Him. His fidelity and love is frozen. His temperature has fallen from feverish devotion to a chilled, icy coldness. He was no walking in the counsel of the ungodly, standing in the way of sinners and sitting in the seat of the scornful. Peter is so cold, so far from Jesus that he sits down now to "warm himself." A cold man is apt to forget his trusts and his loyalties and begin to seek personal comforts.

IN THESE CHILLING DAYS, we must beware lest we seek to push in by a comfortable fire when the world is bruised, battered, broken, and bleeding to death. This is no time for personal comfort. When we think of the price paid for our religious inheritance, it spoils our desire just to be comfortable in hours like these. Does one say, "But is it not human nature to do as Peter did, to seek safety?" Yes, it is human nature to seek safety, but it is the nature of the true Christian to do better than human nature. His nature has been changed by the power of Christ until he is willing to suffer, to set examples and to lead the way in such hours. Peter sought the warmth of the fire; Jesus faced unflinchingly the coldness of the world. Peter followed the bent of unsanctified nature while Jesus gave himself to save humanity.

After Pentecost we see no more such waverings in the life of this great Apostle. He had been cleansed by the Holy Spirit until he was now one with His Lord. He could say with Paul, "It is no longer I that liveth, but Christ that lived in me." This makes the difference.

HOW MANY PROFESSED Christians warm themselves by the enemies' fire? This is done when one stoops to worldly ways and seeks the pleasures of this world. No longer is there a clear line of demarcation between the world and the church. Lines which were once definitely black or white are now dull gray. When the church compromises with the world she loses her power over the world. Jesus made the line clear when He said, "Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." (Mark 8:34) He further tells us in John 17:16, in refering to His true followers, "They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world." Could it be true that some of Christ's professed children are conforming to the ways of the world, rather than trying to transform the world through the Gospel of Christ? Let us not deceive ourselves, it is today even as it has always been, the true followers of Christ have forsaken sin and worldliness to be His deciple. Peter soon saw his mistake and I believe he resolved to go "back to the beautiful path he once trod."

—:—

PRAYER. Grant, O Father, that we shall never be satisfied until all is under the blood. Until our lives are truly lost in Thee. Cleanse each heart that is truly consecrated to thee and give strength and fortitude of soul that we can live in this world and yet not be of this world. In Jesus name we pray. Amen.

Swallows Coming Back to Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—The swallows are coming back to Capistrano. First of them, called scouts by villagers, returned to their nests in the eaves of the age-old mission yesterday.

The others are due next Friday on St. Joseph's day. They will be welcomed with a celebration including masses in the historic chapel of Father Junipero Serra, founder of the California Catholic missions, ringing of the mission bells and a religious parade to the mission door.

A Spanish fiesta will top off the festivities in the evening.

About 400 million acres in the United States are classified as cropland.

SAY THAT AGAIN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — A woman left a roll of film at Ray Neighbors' drug store with specific developing instructions. She wanted "one print of each, except the third and sixth pictures," but "if the baby is smiling in those, I want three prints from each of the two."

Lighted Cross Used To Protect Church

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A church congregation, worried about low-flying planes, has come up with something new in the way of aircraft warning beacons

An eight-foot- neon-lighted cross has been mounted on the steeple of Union Church, near the Greater Pittsburgh Airport

The church is located about two seconds flying time from the field and lies in direct line with one of the busiest runways

"Ever since the new terminal opened planes have buzzed the beifry like bees after honey" said the Rev. William S. Ruschhaupt, pastor of the church.

It got so bad, that low-flying jets turned Sunday evening services into sudden prayer meetings So members of the congregation bought a rememdy.

"A neon-lighted sign seemed to be the best idea," Rev. Ruschhaupt explained. "It would serve as a warning device and an effective crown for the church"

Since the church is located atop the highest point near the airport, the cross can be seen all the way to the Ohio border. Even the pilots like the idea.

"At first I thought it was some sort of neon advertisement" said one jet-jockey It certainly was strange to suddenly see a huge lighted cross coming at you while landing But now, most of us are using it as a guide to the field"

Indians Going Modern In Ancient Ceremonies

WASHINGTON (UP) — Indian tribes in the Pacific Northwest have revived an ancient gift-giving ceremony — the potlatch

In the old days each clan chief was expected to hold periodic potlatches during which he distributed personal property to enchance his prestuge Canoes, dressed elk skins, and blankets of cedar-bark mink, marten, sea otter and deer skins were the most common gifts

Now the custom has gone modern with clan chiefs handing out radios, kitchenware and sewing machines

When a potlatch is over, a chief often finds that he has stripped himself of every possession except his house His poverty does not last long however His guests are expected to return his generosity often with interest, at potlatches of their own

Lenten Meditations

This is one in a series of Lenten meditations prepared by the members of the Marion County Ministerial Association for publication in The Star.

Lord, Is It I?

By REV. L. HARRISON LUDWIG
Pastor of Salem E. and R. Church

The query of the disciples digs deep into our own souls. The Last Supper is being eaten and Jesus is telling of His coming betrayal and death. With one accord all of the disciples turn to Jesus with the words, "Lord, is it I?"

Among those who asked the question was the one who betrayed Him, the one who denied Him, the larger group who deserted Him in the critical hours.

None of us can face Christ with innocence. We know that His purity and love condems our sin. We feel His devotion and sacrifice condemn our carelessness. We know that the Cross of Christ ever stands to convict us all. But it does much more than that. It reveals the infinite love of God for us. It moves us to dedicate all of our lives to the Christ who died for us. True meditation upon the Cross will lead to a renewal of life.

PRAYER:

"Were the whole realm of nature mine,
That were a present far too small;
Love so amazing, so divine,
Demands my soul, my life, my all."

Heiress Hutton Walks Out on Husband No. 5

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Reports that Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton had walked out on her latest prince charming, Porfirio Rubirosa, gave the international smart set another choice morsel of gossip to chew on today.

Society sources here said Barbara left the rented honeymoon villa Thursday night and moved in with her aunt, Mrs. James P. Donahue, at the Everglades Club.

She was reported in seclusion and did not answer her telephone. Rubirosa, the suave playboy-diplomat she married Dec. 30, was reachable but not talking.

"I do not know anything," Rubirosa told a reporter when asked about the separation reports. "Ask her."

Rubirosa, the Dominican Republic minister to France, hasn't been in Palm Beach the full 10 weeks since the honeymoon with Barbara began. Last week, there were rumors he flew to Phoenix, Ariz., to see an old flame, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor. He denied them.

A few days later, he popped up in Sebring, Fla., to drive an Italian Lancia in the international grand prix endurance race for sports cars.

Ex-Missionary To China Will Speak Monday

Rev. V. L. Farnham, missionary of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and an authority on Communism as it effects missions will be guest speaker in the morning at the thirtieth anniversary service at Oakland EUB Church here. The service will be held in commemoration of the church's dedication.

Rev. Farnham

For many years a missionary in China, Rev. Farnham, the son of a minister, began his special training early in life. To complete his education, he took postgraduate work at Biblical Seminary in New York, McCormick Seminary of Chicago, and at Princeton Theological Seminary.

In China he has done evalgelistic work, served as district superintendent, mission and conference treasurer, and as executive secretary of the mission. He has observed the work and plans of the communists as they moved over China.

With the exception of the original mission hall which was used for worship from June 30, 1918 when it was dedicated, until the erection of the present church building, the Oakland congregation has had no other church edifice. The mission building was moved one block west of the present church site and made into a parsonage later.

The ground - breaking service for the erecting of the present Oakland Church building took place on March 31, 1923, and the cornerstone was laid in July of the same year. The new church was dedicated March 9, 1924, by Bishop S. P. Spreng.

At the morning service, at which Rev. Farnham will speak, a missionary offering will be presented toward the $1,800 goal for extra foreign missionary projects of the denomination which the Oakland congregation has assumed for this year.

At 7:30 p.m., a home missions worker, Miss L. Leona Aggola, will speak. The Youth Fellowship meeting will precede, at 6:30, and Miss Doris Brading of Marion will review chapters from the mission study book. After the evening worship, the young people will go to the Parish House for a fellowship hour and refreshments. The Brotherhood will meet Tuesday night.

Previews of the Coming Attractions at the Local Theaters

Ohio Will Present Picture 'How To Marry Millionaire'

"The Command," first Cinemascope production of an American frontier drama, is the current attraction at the Ohio Theater. It is playing through Wednesday and is in color.

Starring Guy Madison, Joan Weldon and James Whitmore, the film tells a story set in Wyoming during the great savage uprising in 1878. The story centers about the activities of a cavalry command led by a young medical officer, played by Guy Madison.

When the ranking field officer is killed in a skirmish it remains for Madison to assume the command and lead his depleted forces in a last ditch effort to hold the territory.

Entering into the story are the resentment of the men against following an untested officer into battle, the fiery romance of Madison and Joan Weldon, and the personal feud between the doctor and James Whitmore. Madison's task of protecting the settlers from a savage attack is made harder by the necessity of proving himself worthy to his men and the woman he loves.

Starting Thursday will be another Cinemascope production, "How To Marry a Millionaire," a comedy in color and co-starring Marilyn Monroe, Betty Grable, Lauren Bacall, David Wayne, Rory Calhoun, Cameron Mitchell and William Powell.

The story is about three beautiful New York fashion models who decide it's as easy to love a rich man as a poor man. They pool their resources to put on the dog in a swank rented apartment and are forced to sell most of its furnishings in order to eat. The story relates how the three young ladies solve their romantic and financial dilemmas.

'Little Boy Lost' One Of Features at Marion

"Little Boy Lost" starring Bing Crosby and featuring Claude Dauphin and Christian Fourcade, will be the main attraction of a double feature Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater. Completing the billing will be "Jack Slade."

In the former, Crosby plays an American newspaperman who has spent years searching for his young son whom he hasn't seen since his birth, just before the Nazi's invaded France. The trail eventually leads to a French orphanage.

The attraction Tuesday through Thursday will be the technicolor production, "Quo Vadis," with Robert Taylor, Deborah Kerr, Leo Genn and Peter Ustinov heading a cast of thousands.

It relates the thrilling drama of the birth of Christianity in a pagan world and the love of a Roman warrior for a beautiful Christian hostage.

Billed for Friday and Saturday are "Island In The Sky" starring John Wayne, and a Bowery Boys attraction, "Bowery Battalion."

"Island In The Sky" concerns the graphic action surrounding a crash-landing of a transport plane in the frozen wastes of northern Labrador. It deals with the efforts of the crew to survive during the five harrowing days and nights while thrilling rescue attempts are made by other planes. The featured cast includes Lloyd Nolan, Walter Abel, Andy Devine, Allyn Joslyn, James Arness and Harry Carey, Jr.

Playing Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace Theater will be "Beachhead" and "Captain Scarlet," a pair of technicolor productions. The former stars Tony Curtis, Frank Lovejoy and Mary Murphy while Richard Greene and Leonora Amar are cast in the latter.

"Captain Scarlet" concerns France just after the defeat of Napoleon when royalty was again seeking its place in the sun and once again exacting tribute from the poor and downtrodden. Returning to France after a long absence, Greene, portraying a nobleman, assumes the name of Captain Scarlet in order to aid himself and his friends in recovering what is rightfully theirs.

"Overland Pacific" concerns the story of a group of outlaws who try to stop the building of a railroad by instigating Indian raids. Mahoney is cast as a trouble shooter sent by the company to investigate the Indian raids.

Judge Grants Requested Sentence to Penitentiary

CINCINNATI (AP)—Judge John M. Renner asked the usual question in Criminal Court yesterday. Did the prisoner have anything to say before sentence was pronounced?

"Yes, judge," responded Moses Bates, 22, who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary. "If you're thinking about sending me to the reformatory, I'd rather be sent to the penitentiary."

He told the court he knew a lot of people at the reformatory "and I'm afraid I won't make it."

Renner sent him to the penitentiary.

TONY CURTIS, FRANK LOVEJOY and Mary Murphy, stars of "Beachhead" are shown in a scene from the technicolor production which opens Sunday at the Palace Theater.

Fate of Wable Now in Hands Of Jury Panel

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — John Wesley Wable, accused phantom slayer of two sleeping truckers on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, places his life today in the hands of a jury.

Judge Edward G Bauer has only to deliver his charge to the seven men and five women sitting in Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court before the jury will be locked up for secret deliberations on the murder charge.

The state and defense summed up their cases yesterday.

Chief Defense Atty. A. C. Scales asked the jury to spare Wable's life—not specifically requesting acquittal.

Asst. Dist. Atty Joseph M. Loughran demanded conviction of first degree murder and "death" in the state's electric chair.

The commonwealth charges Wable, 24-year-old handyman from Ohiopyle, Pa., fired a bullet into the head of Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green Va., as he slept in the cab of his truck along the turnpike July 28.

Wable also is accused of killing another trucker, Lester B Woodward, 39, of Duncannon, Pa., under similar circumstances three days earlier. However, he only is on trial in the Pitts case.

HYDRAULIC JACK USED

In order to re-oil locomotives and equipment in case of accidents, giant hydraulic jacks are employed on British railroads which operate faster than the conventional equipment without blocking adjacent tracks.

In Memory

Of our mother, Gertrude Wertz, who died March 13, 1950.

You can only have one mother,
Patient, kind and true;
No other friend in all the world
Will be as true to you.
For all her loving kindness,
She asked nothing in return.
If all the world deserts you,
To your mother you can turn.
So all we can do dear Mother,
Is go and tend your grave,
And leave behind a token of love
To the best mother God ever gave.
You shall never be forgotten,
Never shall your memory fade.
Sweetest thoughts will always linger,
Around the grave where you are laid.
Sadly missed by daughter and son,
Audrey Lawrence,
Ross Wertz.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Can You Keep Your Ideals?

Occassionally people tell me that you cannot live up to your ideals in business and social relationships. They say they would like to hold to their standards, but that compromise is necessary if you want to get along nowadays.

DR. PEALE

Well, personally I do not accept that weak point of view at all. It just isn't so, so, as is proven by the experience of some very successful people.

Take, for example, the famous British motion picture producer, J. Arthur Rank: "It doesn't make any difference if it involves ten thousand pounds or two pence. If it isn't right, don't do it. And, if it is right, do it. But know what is right."

MR. RANK'S philosophy came to mind recently when I read an article Joel McCrea, the movie star, wrote for a magazine of which I am editor-in-chief, "Guideposts." He had no ambition to become an actor, although he had grown up in Hollywood and even delivered newspapers as a boy to the homes of such stars as Mary Pickford. What he wanted was a ranch. He wanted great open spaces surrounded by mountains. And the quickest way he could think of to get a ranch like this was to become a movie actor since that paid well and would net him money to buy his ranch.

So Joel McCrea became a movie actor and did well at it. Then, one day, his agent came to him and said, "Joel, you're getting a great break. You're being cast in a picture with one of the biggest glamor girls in the business. The story is by one of the most successful writers. It can't fail to be a big hit."

Joel McCrea said, "Let me read the script."

—:—

WELL, THAT script seemed to him to be overly suggestive and he didn't like the part. He didn't want to play it and started trying to get out of it. Everyone told him that he didn't have a chance to get out of it; after all, he did have a contract with the picture company. He finally got an appointment with the top man at the studio, known to be cold, difficult and hard as nails.

That man looked at him and said:

"Okay, son, now you are here. I haven't any time to waste so don't give me a long story. They tell me you don't want to play this part. Well, you're under contract and I can make you play this part. And if you don't play it, I can break you. Understand? Now, give me just one good reason why you don't want to play this part."

McCrea quietly answered, "Well, sir, it is simply this: I would be embarrassed for my two little sons to see me in this part."

The man sat there and glared at him. Finally, he got up and walked over to McCrea, slapped him on the back and told him: "Okay, son, that's good enough for me. I have a part for you in a big Western. How would you like that?"

TODAY, Joel McCrea's reputation rests in large measure on the many excellent Westerns he has done. And his kind of straight thinking and moral sturdiness offers an excellent example to all of us in trying to do what we think is right.

There are people who get into such situations and try to play along easily with it in hope that it will work out right. Well, it may work out, but it will likely work out the wrong way. Whatever people find themselves in a position that is unpleasant and trying, if they simply do the right thing, the thing they believe in, in the long run they will get right results.

So, remember, when you get into a spot where it seems that you have to sacrifice what you think is right, hold fast to your religion, hold fast to your faith, stick to your ideals. If you have the courage to do what is right, you can be sure that things will work out right for you in the long run.

Marion Man Sent to Jail on Traffic Charge

A Marion man charged with drunken driving and resisting arrest was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to five days in the Marion County jail, and his driving license was suspended for three years when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today.

Wilds reported he chased him some distance, caught him, and handcuffed him.

Hardin, 42, of near Port Clinton, failure to register a motor vehicle, cited to appear in Municipal Court March 19; Rolland Augenstein, 47, of 626 Windsor St., insufficient brakes, fined $15 and costs and Sylvia L. Something for Taxpayers

The oddity about the House bill to reduce excise taxes is that it interferes with automatic expirations which would save taxpayers far more money than will be saved if the bill becomes law.

Automatic expirations on April 1 would wipe out more than a billion dollars a year in excise-tax revenue. The Reed bill in the House will wipe out a little more than 900 million dollars in revenue.

Thus, if the Reed bill gets stalled in the Senate beyond April 1 and finally comes back to the House for approval of changes, the same representatives supporting it now as a concession to taxpayer would be in the awkward position of wanting to increase taxes, instead of decreasing them.

This is typical of the mixup which has grown out of the Eisenhower administration's unwillingness to kid taxpayers about reductions while the government is running a deficit. The congressmen who are not subject to the same unwillingness have outwitted themselves.

The administration has been able to curb the runaway inflation which the Truman administration never tried to curb. But it has not been able to cut back national defense commitments far enough to balance its budget. Its task in that regard will be made even harder if congressmen insist on basking in the warm gratitude of taxpayers for cutting taxes while the government is still in the red.

Sen. Byrd has come out with his annual prospectus to show how spending could be cut by three billion dollars beginning July 1 and by some fraction of that between now and July 1, thereby balancing the budget. But even Byrd admits the budget could be balanced only by keeping all tax rates high at the same time and resisting all pressures to add new expenditures, such as the pressure to adjust federal pay rates which are far below standard in many categories.

A Nip in Time

The dog-bite season is here. It arrives on or about the vernal equinox.

There is a connection.

When the weather warms up, people and dogs move about more freely. The incidence of friction, you might say, is higher than it has been during cold weather.

The people know they are not supposed to bite the dogs, because that would be news. But the dogs do not know they will be regarded with suspicion if they nip people. Dogs have been nipping people for thousands of years. Most dog "bites," incidentally, are more in the nature of nips than bites, indicating the dogs don't really try.

As spring wears on, the dogs get accustomed to people and vice versa. But scarcely a year passes without a springtime epidemic of nipping. Needless to say, it's hard on the people who get nipped and the people who own the dogs that do the nipping. If the dogs could talk, they'd point out it's hard on them too. It puts them on the defensive until they have wagged their way back into the good graces of their fellow creatures with the tender skins.

Steel Statistics With Salt

One of the statistics with special meaning to people concerned with steel production is the capacity index.

When this drops to 70.5, as it did last week, steel production is relatively low. Unfortunately, those who have not learned to take all statistics with salt think this means there is less steel being made than there used to be.

That is not the case at all.

The capacity index shows the relationship between actual production and potential production.

The latter represents what the industry could produce if everything were perfect — 100 per cent. Actual production, even in wartime, rarely reaches this peak of potential production. Moreover, the peak itself keeps getting higher. As the result of enormous expansions in steel plants and improved methods, the steel industry is now potentially able to produce 52 per cent more steel than it could have produced under perfect conditions in 1940.

The industry started this year with a potential production of 124,330,410 tons. Thus, when it is producing steel at 70 per cent of its potential capacity it is producing vastly more steel than it could have produced at a 100 per cent rate in 1940, when its potential capacity was only 81,619,000 tons.

To some extent, therefore, the steel industry and the whole country are at the mercy of the industry's efficiency. The more steel it can produce on a theoretical basis, the more steel it is expected to produce on an actual basis to prove it is prospering and the country is prospering.

If the steel industry had not expanded far beyond its expectations of actual need, its capacity index now would be standing at a point far above 70.5.

If during the course of the entire year the index reached an average of about 75 per cent, the United States would have had one of the four best years of its entire steel-producing history in terms of tonnage actually produced.

Three-Sided Controversy

By David Lawrence

McCarthy Also Entitled to Free Time on Networks

The Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company have both made a serious mistake in judgment by denying the right of reply to a United States senator in a controversy of public interest in which he is a principal news figure.

For many years now attorneys for the broadcasting companies have rightly been contending in the courts that radio is entitled to the protection of the "freedom of press" clause in the Bill of Rights of the Constitution.

Everywhere that reporters from newspapers are admitted, the radio networks have sought and in most instances have been granted admission on an equality with the press.

For two major networks to claim the privileges of the press and yet to deny their obligation to give a controversial figure the right of reply when he is attacked on their networks is a bad precedent on the record which will plague them for years to come unless—and there is still time — they reverse their recent decision.

THE NETWORKS have a legal right to deny Sen. McCarthy free space on the air. He cannot successfully force them to do so by court action, because the right to decide what shall be put on the networks belongs solely to the broadcasting companies and no government rule would be constitutional which held otherwise. Even the requirement of law stipulating that during political campaigns the opposing candidates or parties must be given equal time is of doubtful constitutionality. Either the radio is free from government censorship and dictation all the time or not at all.

But, precisely because the two broadcasting companies between them control the program time of most of the radio outlets in America, they have a responsibility to use news judgment just as the newspapers do.

WHAT AN OUTCRY would come from persons of all political faiths if a newspaper chain suddenly announced that it would not allow any of its member newspapers to print the reply of a United States senator who is attacked by another speaker in the columns of others newspapers.

Those who have commented that it is fair enough to give Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, the right to select a spokesman to reply to Adlai Stevenson's speech before the Democratic party dinner at Miami are forgetting that there are three sides to the controversy provoked by the Stevenson speech.

When newspapers or radio begin delegating the right of news judgment to head of any political party, they are conceding that they are no longer independent but are subservient to others outside their own organization in selecting their news.

It is, of course, a convenient device and at first glance would seem to relieve the networks of some embarrassment, but it is transparently an abdication of news judgment. Nor does it satisfy fair play when, once having granted time without cost to one speaker, they shunt the person attacked over to commercial sponsors on the paid advertising side to make his reply.

IT WILL BE a sorry day for liberalism in America when, in order to get a chance to express himself on the radio, a United States senator must ask favors from those corporations wealthy enough to buy radio or television time.

The Stevenson affair in Miami, of course, was an out-and-out political meeting, and the broadcasting companies would have been justified in the first instance in requiring that the time be paid for by the Democratic National Committee. Then they would have been on solid ground if they insisted that any replies should also be paid for. Once they opened the door by giving free time to speakers at a $100-a-plate Democratic party dinner, they were obliged to give the same privilege to any persons attacked on that program, and McCarthy was certainly attacked by Stevenson.

The danger to the radio broadcasting companies is that they will unwittingly persuade many millions of Americans that they are not on a par with the press at all and that, to get all sides of the news, there is no substitute for the American daily newspaper.

THIS WOULD BE a serious loss of confidence in the networks. Anybody with money enough to buy a printing press and hire a staff can publish a newspaper. It takes a license from the federal government to start a radio station. A government-granted monopoly should be especially mindful of the public interest.

It is obvious that there are not two but three views involved in this latest controversy. They are the Stevenson side, the Nixon side —which, it has been publicly announced, will not defend McCarthy —and the defense which the Wisconsin senator himself is entitled to make because of the use of the theme "McCarthyism" in the original attack.

While the broadcasting companies have a legal right to pick whatever speakers they desire, they can hardly answer persuasively the criticism which will be visited upon them that they do not deal with the news on its merits, but on some arbitrary rule of their own which has the effect of suppressing one side of an argument.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I am writing this on the midnight to breakfast watch at the sugar house. Joel Knapp is here with me taking care of the evaporators and is doing all the work, though I am theoretically in charge until 6 a.m.

We've had a good run this year and will have a bumper "crop" unless the temperature goes too high too fast and turns the sap "buddy." With syrup selling for $5 a gallon and up depending on the capacity of the purchaser we should have quite a little nest egg to turn over to the orphan kids after deducting the overhead.

The committee decided this year's project would be for orphans, instead of some of the other worthy causes which are just as deserving, because there are more orphans than usual right now. In two auto accidents in the township between Labor Day and Thanksgiving we acquired three at one swoop.

Since the only overhead here is for refreshments and routine repairs on equipment, it wouldn't surprise me if we turned over as much as $2,000 before the sugar season ends. We had a fine sugar snow last night that was worth an extra $100 if it was worth a dime.

Nothing I'll ever do will give me more satisfaction than this sugar camp. When I built it and turned it over to the township nine years ago I never realized how much good will it would generate. So far this year almost 60 men have donated at least a day's work. Everybody has fun.

No one works hard. I have been on hand most of the time but they won't let me work at all. Glenn Day is officially in charge and coordinates everybody's efforts, but he isn't supposed to do any acutal work either. He does, though.

It's what I would call basic philanthropy — that we create the wealth we are going to give away by expending a little of ourselves to take advantage of a phenomenon in nature. Fortunately, no harm is done to the maple trees by diverting a little of their sap for a good cause. Matter of fact, Doc Luther himself drove in the spikes.

It's as if we had a club for men only, though no one objects if the women show up to pass the time of day and bring in something special in the way of a snack. It has been suggested, in fact, that we should meet four times a year, instead of only once during the sugar season. I am not against this, but I really can't see what justifies a meeting unless we are boiling down sap for syrup and sugar cakes.

Incidentally, I have put in your order for the cakes you want. I'll keep them at my house until you come by the next time because when they're shipped they usually get nicked in transit. We have some new molds this year that will make the cakes look a lot fancier, except remember it isn't the looks you eat but the sugar.

Joel thinks we should have a hot dog apiece in a bun to go with our next round of black coffee, so I will have to get busy. In another hour he will have poured the next to the last batch before breakfast and there won't be much to do then until the 6 a.m. shift shows up. I wish you could take a few days off and see what it's like up here when good fellows get together in maple syrup time.

I have no up-to-date word but I presume your aunt would send her regards if she had a chance. I'll mail this tomorrow morning when I go home to shave and get a few hours of horizontal slumber. Be happy. And don't try too hard to be good.

Juvenile Delinquency Plagues Soviets

By Charles L. Adams

What's going on behind Russian censorship? The writer of the following story disclosing that delinquency is on the rise, knows many of the answers. A former Navy intelligence officer, he is Russian-affairs specialist, Constantly surveying life among the Soviets through the peephole of their press, he has been author of scores of articles published in newspapers and magazines across the country.

—:—

A wave of juvenile delinquency is sweeping across Russia. The government, through its press organs, has noted hooligan killings and warned schoolteachers and administrators to place more emphasis on the importance of discipline in education.

Parents are being warned that they are responsible for the conduct of their children. New restrictions have been placed on the out-of-school activities of Soviet youth.

In Moscow, a 10 p.m. curfew was recently imposed on school children under 16. Parents will be fined for violations.

The official Russian government newspaper Izvestia charged that city and regional governing councils have shown indifference toward young hooligans and hooliganism. It said:

"The shameful crimes of individual students have failed to provoke necessary reproach either in the school or in the family. As a result, order is not established in the schools, and the students are demoralized.

"This namby-pamby educational policy accustoms students to irresponsibility and freedom from punishment."

IZVESTIA NOTED that a host of decisions for improving education had been made by the schools, city and regional board of education, teachers' institutes and Communist party organizations. "But the most important step — careful inculcation of discipline in the school program as the basis of all education — is ignored," it added.

The behavior of children coming from the Soviet Union's upper crust society is causing much headshaking by Russian editors.

For example, "student Sukhinin, whose father is a leading Communist party worker, violated regulations by smoking in school and acting insolent to his teathers, Izvestia reported. "So what?" he said. "My father permits it."

Student Vorobev, whose father is a lieutenant colonel, was caught cutting the buttons off a comrade's coat. His mother had given him money to buy buttons, but he had spent it and decided to steal the buttons instead.

After much pleading by the school director, Vorobev's father consented to discuss the matter. But, according to a Moscow paper, "The father saw nothing shameful in his son's behavior and tried in every way to excuse him."

STUDENT GUSEV, son of a former secretary of the Communist party's regional committee, took a metal pestle from his house and hit another student on the nose with it. The victim spent over six months in the hospital, but the culprit was only transferred to another school.

"He was even permitted to remain in the Komsomol (Communist youth group)," the paper said. "On the other hand, the school director was fired for doing a poor job of educating Gusev."

That the wave of hooliganism has covered the Soviet Union is indicated in reports from the Siberian metropolis of Khabarovsk, 4,000 miles east of Moscow.

Press reports cited this incident at Khabarovsk High School No. 5, which, until recently, "was considered one of the most advanced in the region."

Ura Falkovsky, a fifth-class student, was hit in the temple while playing during an unsupervised recess. He lost consciousness for several minutes, but was forced to sit through his next class.

He was not examined by the school doctor, nor were his parents informed of the accident by the school. He later died of a brain hemorrhage.

After the child's funeral, Ura's father wrote to the Khabarovsk Regional Executive Council complaining that "Lack of discipline, rowdiness, thievery and beatings of smaller children by older ones are commonplace."

Izvestia said that the Regional Council turned the letter over to the Department of Education, "which put it away in one of its bureaucratic file cabinets with other correspondence."

ACCORDING TO Izvestia, the case came to light only because Falkovsky sent a copy of his complaint to the newspaper. When confronted by an Izvestia correspondent, the chief of the Khabarovsk Department of Education reportedly continued to insist that school No. 5 was a fine institution.

Izvestia disclosed, however, that eighth-class student Plakkhotin, also of Khabarovsk High School No. 5, "Almost put out the eyes of a girl student with a sling shot while a lesson was in progress." Sixth-class student Sergeyev "Threw sand in his teacher's eyes after receiving a bad mark,' and fifth-class student Sychev "Got drunk and cut one of his comrades with a knife.'

Commenting on these incidents, Izvestia said they were evidence of ignorance and complacency. "The Khabarovsk school authorities are so accustomed to violations of the most elementary rules of student conduct that ruffianism flourishes," the paper declared. "Concealment of students' hooligan escapades is the usual thing. It had led to the death of Ura Falkovsky."

Funnymen Frantic

Comedians Wear Out Jokes

The nation's jokewriters were wearing the corners of their mouths turned down today. People, they mourned, just aren't laughing.

Spokesmen cited Mark Twain's bromide that there are only seven basic jokes to start with. Many of today's comedy writers have boiled this number down to three.

Out of this laughter mine, the writers conceded sadly, they are expected to dig 1,000,000 jokes a year to fill the movies, radio, television and cartoons.

"With so few formulas, and such a great demand for comedy, it's no wonder we have become a nation of gag critics," said a spokesman of the National Association of Gagwriters, whose members put the words in the mouths of the funnymen. "All over the country, people are sitting with bloodshot eyes performing autopsies on the jokes of the top TV comedians because the gags sound so much the same."

To counter the critics, the jokemakers are trying to organize Americans who still react to a punch line, or at least understand the writers' problems.

For nine years, the association has sponsored an annual event called Laugh Week, to be held this year April 1-10

On the agenda of the association's convention in New York is a proposal that the writers settle for a comparatively sober solemn name, promotion. This would be a sympathetic group with the friends-of-comedy society.

The three available gags will stretch a long way, but they all have a breaking point, pointed out Art Henley, comedy writer noted for the humorous twists he wrings out of mathematics. The gagsters have to tickle a living and the 1,000,000 jokes out of three basic situations:

1. Misunderstanding or double entendre.
2. About face or contradiction.
3. Satire or exaggeration.

Among the most faithful practitioners of the art of misunderstanding, according to the gagwriters group, are Abbott and Costello and their "Who's on First?" sketch.

Add a proper buildup and a "shock" punch line, and the writer has an about-face type joke. Stan Dreban, who writes for Jackie Gleason and Jan Murray, among others, cited a sample:

"I met a girl's family today for the first time. What a rough crowd. They had cauliflower ears, noses punched in to one side, scars down the side of their faces, and cigars dangling from their lips. And these were her sisters!"

The gagwriters regard Jimmy Durante as the master of exaggeration and satire: "I was taking a dip in the surf when all of a sudden a swordfish swam up to me. He took one look at my schnoz and said, 'I quit. You've got a superior weapon.'"

The writers also like to capitalize on the varied shading the comedians give to their lines. They cite some favorite examples:

Gracie Allen is noted among the jokemakers for her skill with the "relative twist": "Uncle Looie was caught trying to change a five-dollar bill. He would have gotten away with it, too, if he hadn't put his own picture on it."

Arthur Godfrey: "Did you hear about the fellow in the automobile accident who turned turtle — so they took him off to the zoo."

And Red Skelton: "Did you hear about the pigeon that was people-toed?"

One source the comedy creators report they're culling these days are the front pages of newspapers. The fracas over the price of coffee proved useful: It was "grounds for divorce," and like Fort Knox, "worth its wait in gold."

Today's big rage among its members, the association reported, is the space or out-of-this-world futuristic joke, for instance the one about the two loves on the moon who love to neck when there's a full earth out.

This may have first been written for Joe Miller's original joke book, the writers admit, but at least it's updated. Even if the audience won't laugh like it used to.

Thinks Bill Inadequate

Ohio's Ayres May Differ With Party on Tax Cuts

By JAMES B. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Watch Akron Republican Bill Ayres during the big fight on income tax changes in the House next week.

The 38-year-old heating concern man—a second term congressman—says he might bolt the Eisenhower administration in that fight.

With the most labor constituents of any GOP congressman, Ayres already has told President Eisenhower he thinks the ordinary taxpayer deserves a break. The present bill, he says, doesn't give it to them.

Democrats Plan

The Democrats say they will offer to revise the bill Thursday by moving to knock out the tax reductions on dividends and to increase personal exemptions by $100. Asked what he would do in that case, Ayres replied:

"I'd vote with the Democrats. I'd be the biggest hypocrite in the Ohio delegation if I didn't.

"As I told President Eisenhower in December the working people think there is too much General Motors thinking in the administration.

"I also told him corporation taxes cannot be reduced. Take those excise tax reductions. They don't affect enough people.

"Personally, I'd rather leave the dividend tax reductions alone."

How many other Ohio Republican congressmen would vote with the Democrats on their tax proposal?

"I'll bet you won't find another one," says Ayres.

Some Ohio congressmen from agricultural districts report an increase in complaints from constituents about selective service reclassifying deferred farmers as eligible for the draft.

Such complaints have been received by Republicans Clarence Brown and William McCulloch and Democrat James Polk.

Actually, selective service says there has been no change in its policy on deferring farmers because of "essential" employment.

But a spokesman did point this out: Some farmers have been deferred as long as two years. The need for men is growing. The present group of 20-year-olds is unusually small, because it consists of "depression babies" born in an era when the birth rate was low.

Older Men Reclassified

Thus, some of the older men have to be reclassified where possible.

"Some deferred farmers don't realize," said a spokesman, "that we can call on them until they're 35. Of course they sometimes don't like it, because by then they may have families or have purchased expensive farm equipment.

"We had one man who wanted to be deferred who was going to school at Ohio State University in Columbus, but farming before and after classes.

"But he lived 80 miles away. We didn't think he could be deferred."

Settlement Granted After Damage Suit

A Common Pleas Court jury Friday awarded $650 damages to the plaintiff, Olen Rahrig of Forest, against Stephen Smisek of Willoughby.

The damage suit, filed June 24, 1952, resulted from a traffic accident July 1, 1950, at the intersection of State Routes 95 and 98 in which a truck owned by Rahrig was struck by an automobile driven by Smisek. The judgment was awarded the plaintiff for damages caused to his truck.

Serving on the jury were Ray McDonald, Sylvia M. Bachtle, Edith L. Faurot, Doris Treherne, Velma I. Tanner, Mary J. Spaeth, Clyde W. Hinamon, William H. Southward, George W. Lust, Thomas C. Mobley, Roy J. Campton, and Daisy M. Russell. Alternate juror was R. D. Wickersham.

Welfare Group To Investigate Rhodes' Charge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state welfare department's advisory council on child care plans to meet March 30 to discuss Ohio's juvenile institutions, under attack by James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor.

The council was appointed recently after Rhodes, now state auditor, charged girls were treated inhumanely at Girl's Industrial School near Delaware.

Henry J. Robison, Democratic state welfare director, has denied Rhodes' charges, but named the council to investigate.

In a speech last night at Logan County Republican meeting Rhodes proposed a conference with Robison, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, and "a committee composed of non - policitial women's organizations" so he could present his charges of bad conditions at the Girls Industrial School.

On export and import traffic, the Atlantic and Gulf ports are equally accessible to Ohio industry.

Obliging Deer Convinces Hunter's Doubting Wife

BARRINGTON, N. H. (UP) — Mrs. George Green was skeptical of her husband's story that the dent in his car was caused by a big buck that bounded onto the road as he drove home.

Green took his wife to the scene to point out the deer tracks, and she became convinced.

But not by deer tracks. As he slowed down to point out the tracks, a buck bounded from the woods and bounced off the car's radiator.

Dulles Served On Board, Too, Murrow Says

NEW YORK (AP)—CBS Commentator Edward R. Murrow says Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was a member of the board of trustees of the Institute of International Education in 1935.

On his regular news commentary last night, Murrow replied to criticism made Thursday night by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy R-Wis.), who connected Murrow's institute activities 19 years ago with what he termed "a Moscow University summer session."

Murrow said:

"Now here are the facts about that Moscow summer school . . . I was the assistant director of the institute . . . This organization dealt primarily with the exchange of students and professors between this and foreign countries . . . .

"It was largely financed at that time by the Carnegie Corp. and the Rockefeller Foundation.

"Among its board of trustees were such as John Foster Dulles, John Basset Moore, Thomas W. Lamont . . . and others equally distinguished.

"The Russian authorities abruptly, and without satisfactory explanation, canceled the proposed summer school before it began, and most of the prospective members spent the summer traveling in the Soviet Union.

"No effort was made to revive the venture, and the advisory council was therefore dissolved."

Murrow had devoted his CBS television show to McCarthy last Tuesday night. The commentator charged the senator repeatedly has stepped over the line between investigation and persecution in the course of his Red-hunting activities.

Dog Plays No Favorites, Likes Officers of Law

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — Police were confident they would soon nab a holdup man when they found a little dog that was with him at the time of the crime.

A couple who had been robbed while seated in a parked car told police the gunman had called to the frisky mongrel, "Come on, Toots," an walked away with the dog trotting at his heels.

When the dog was found shortly afterward, one over-confident officer predicted that "Toots will lead us to his owner."

But "Toots" turned out to be merely a friendly stray answering to any name and quite willing to make up with anyone, including police.

you bet I chose an Acrosonic

Style 986—distinctively modern. Attractive light finish.

In our family a piano is a big purchase. We looked around plenty! Since we're not musicians we checked with people who are. Time and time again the suggestion came back—Acrosonic.

The Acrosonic is a spinet, they told us, but it's not a midget. Its action is full size—its tone clear and resonant.

Being a business man I know the importance of the manufacturer, and there isn't any better than Baldwin. It's a big company (in business since 1862) with tremendous facilities and generations of know-how. When Baldwin makes a spinet it has to be the best! Yes sir, it all added up to the Acrosonic for us. But why not get the facts for yourself . . . send for Baldwin's free folder "The Exquisite Acrosonic."

Red Neighbors

By George Sokolsky

The problem that John Foster Dulles faces at Caracas, Venezuela, is that the Soviet Universal State has successfully penetrated an area in Latin America; has established a base for operations in Guatemala; has disaffected both Honduras and Costa Rica; is moving rapidly into Cuba and Mexico. British Honduras is at this moment in particular danger of becoming part of the Guatemalan Communist base.

SOKOLSKY

This moves the danger from the realm of theory into that of reality. The Panama Canal is imperilled, as anybody can see who reads a map. But equally important, the United States can be isolated from its Latin American neighbors and can be diverted from its world policies to a defensive program on the American continents.

-:-

WHILE OUR statesmen excite themselves over small politics at home, we are being invaded, in the sense that areas that have been important to this country's national existence since Thomas Jefferson was president are being absorbed by our national enemy.

This is the problem and it will not be solved by the current trend toward happy talk which means nothing when historic events rush at terrific speed against us.

The realities are grim because involved is our national existence.

While some of our so-called statesmen continue to view without alarm, in their relaxing material comforts, the penetration into our own government, they cannot ignore the base established in Guatemala by the Kremlin, or the pressures upon their countries, particularly Costa Rica, Cuba and Mexico.

Dulles is facing up to the situation realistically and fearlessly but he may be late.

The "Good Neighbor Policy" of the Roosevelt administration, devised by Stanley High and carried forward by Nelson Rockefeller, proved to be a failure, not so much because the program was wrong but because of the "Europe First Policy," which diverted attention from both China and Latin America.

RUSSIA TOOK advantage of the diversion to conquer China and to penetrate Latin America.

When one reviews all the facts, it stands clear that even when the United States was an ally of Soviet Russia, the latter was making salient moves against this country.

The harm done in Latin America can be undone but not by a casual policy or by failure to act effectively.

One of the first necessities is a full understanding with the Argentine, with the very Peron whom our left wing geniuses painted as a bad dictator while they were supporting Stalin as a good dictator. Peron can add to our strength; without him our difficulties will be multiplied many times.

President Eisenhower apparently recognized the peril early and sent his brother, Milton, to Latin America where he made an excellent impression and gained important information as to what ought to be done. What influence Milton Eisenhower's report had upon State Department thinking, I do not know, but it would seem, from events, to have been significant.

BY SENDING Milton Eisenhower to Latin America and the vice president, Richard Nixon, to Asia, the President got an objective view of our two most perilous situations.

In doing it that way, the President was wiser than most of us thought at the time.

The Caracas Conference, it is hoped, will achieve a direct anti-Soviet attitude in Latin America. Anything less will be a defeat for the United States and therefore a victory for Soviet Russia. A compromise will mean nothing.

The rest of the world will watch Caracas for a sign of American strength on the home continents.

IT IS EXPECTED that there is to be no success at Geneva in April, it is as essential for American prestige as for realities of our historic role that Caracas should not be a failure.

The Geneva Conference is already hopeless. France and Canada are already openly indicating a desire to recognize Red China as a realistic approach to that problem.

For the United States, such recognition is not realistic at all. It means a total defeat in the Korean War; it means the conquest of Southeast Asia by the Soviet Universal State and the exclusion of the United States from that continent.

It means that again, as after our military defeat in Korea, each nation will have to reassess its position vis-a-vis the United States and Russia. It will increase neutralism.

Should Caracas be successful, it could have some effect on Geneva.

Lewis on Spot

By Victor Riesel

PITTSBURGH

Coal country always is bleak in the wintertime. But this year far more than the pock-marked hillsides are grim. And suddenly I recalled trips of more than two decades ago over Pennsylvania roads—trips atop trucks bearing food and clothing for hungry coaldiggers.

RIESEL

The miners are still far from hungry—but they're beginning to wonder just how far.

Everywhere there are reports of mines being shut down—some permanently. About 100 so far have closed in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, and Kentucky. Even the biggest company, the famed Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal, on which John Lewis has always counted for mass employment, has shut its high-cost pits.

Everywhere coal is piling up. There used to be an average of 60 days' supply on hand for the nation. Then John L. would begin to whittle it down with wildcat strikes and special memorial holidays so he could maneuver into position for a mass stoppage and scare us just a little by browning out a city or two. Now there are 100,000,000 tons of soft coal above ground. That's 120 days' supply—unpurchased.

LAST WEEK the coal fields produced only enough coal to keep an average of 265,000 of the nation's 400,000 coaldiggers at full - time work. Of course, not all of these miners went into the pits every day.

Across Pennsylvania and the soft coal fields, men worked one or two days at the most in thousands of pits. This means that they are bringing home less than $35 a week, sometimes even half that.

This means that on a full-time basis there just is no longer any room for 135,000 miners in the country's hillside and valley patches.

This means that Lewis' powerful union is cracking at its coal seams.

For despite its banks, its investments and its 50 million dollar treasury, even Mr. Coal himself can't keep his union going as the industry strangles slowly. Already, he has had to cut back on his welfare payments. He can no longer continue to lend the independent welfare fund hundreds of thousands of dollars a year—4 million in the past three years, in fact—out of the United Mine Workers general treasury.

JUST WHAT will happen to the magnificent chain of 10 mountain region hospitals which Lewis is building at a cost of 25 million dollars, only he can say.

Obviously, the fatigued and elderly John L. knows that the day for Roman gestures and thunderous epithets aimed at the industry is over. They are all in trouble.

Together, Lewis and the men he used to entangle in words as long as a Russian movie title, must work their way out of an economic blind alley. This is Lewis' chance to be the master statesman.

Together, they must figure some way of making up for the 50,000,000 tons of coal which has been replaced as fuel by Venezuelan residual oil. This has cost some 33,000 coaldiggers full-time work the year round.

Together, Mr. Coal and the industry must find foreign markets, which are closed to them even by our friends abroad.

SOMEONE SHOULD explain to me, for example, why our friend, Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of West Germany, which we are rebuilding, permits the industrialists in the Ruhr and other areas and the home fuel suppliers to buy their huge tonnage of coal from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia. Yet he refuses to issue import permits to our mine operators.

Both coal companies and union economists tell me they could meet the Russian prices on a competitive basis even now. And we could do still better if our government took our idle moth-ball merchant fleet out of the yards and started running it to Europe.

Let no one believe that this merely is the problem of the men of coal. If coal isn't dug, the coal hauling rail-lines will be idle from here to the east coast. Dock and tug crews and even teamsters will have less to handle. If the coal economy cracks, we all get hurt. And for many seasons to come.

The industry isn't just sitting it out. It's developing its own plans. Its executives know that they must sell coal cheaper than any other fuel. They know that Lewis must soon move on his new contract. They know, too, that he is the one giant in the field who, most of all, can work the miracle of the pits.

Even as they plan they await word from him—for they know he can be statesman as well as stentor.

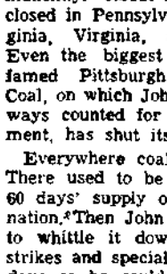
Joys of Cruise

By Hal Boyle

ABOARD THE MAURETANIA AT SEA (AP)—A ship is a small world and there is no better place to study human nature than a deck chair.

It beats a house by the side of a road because you don't get dust in your face as you watch the race of man go by.

"Why do people go on pleasure cruises?" I thought, sprawling out on a deck chair as this 35,000-ton Cunard liner headed toward the Caribbean.



HAL BOYLE

It wasn't hard to find out. A ship in a warm climate has an air of easy intimacy. Strangers come up and tell you things about themselves they'd never admit to a next door neighbor, confident they can unburden their secrets at sea because they'll probably never see you again ashore.

—:—

THEY ALL had one reason in common to be together. They were all looking for something . . . joy . . . health . . . romance . . . forgetfulness . . . an escape from boredom . . . to try to repair a tattered marriage . . . to buy custom-free Scotch whisky in the Virgin Isles at $2.75 a bottle . . . or merely to have something to brag about besides their last appendectomy.

One lady is making her 50th cruise, reportedly because she enjoys nothing in life more than laughing at tourists—and because she has developed an allergy to dry land. The crew loved her.

A middle-aged widower told me: "I took my 20-year-old daughter on this trip to cure her of a broken heart. Her boy friend backed out on her. I'm just going along for the ride myself."

Later I noticed his daughter, a pale, thin girl, dancing happily with another passenger. When I remarked on this to the widower, he replied:

"Yeah, she's doing all right—and I don't mind adding that so's her old man. This moonlight kind of gets you, doesn't it? Maybe what my girl needs is a new mother, instead of another boy friend."

—:—

ONE BUSINESSMAN said he was making the trip in the hope that "my partner will work himself to death while I'm gone, but maybe I should have taken a longer cruise, a 100-year one, considering how little he works."

When I mentioned to my wife, Frances, some of the odd reasons why some of the passengers were taking a voyage, she said:

"Well, Rover, I guess I might as well tell you why you're aboard. It's because after 16 years I just wanted to know where you would be 18 nights in a row. Go anywhere you want to—but don't jump off the ship."

Odd people—wives.

Who goes on pleasure cruises? People of all ages, all occupations, and all two sexes. Among our fellow passengers are people probably rich enough to buy the ship, others who scrimped for years for these few days at sea. There's a steeplejack and a man who runs a steel plant. Lady millionaires and playboys. Guys and dolls. Those who make it the hard way, the easy way. People.

But it isn't true that girls run after men on a cruise. I've been watching them. They walk after them at a firm, brisk, ladylike gait. Catch 'em, too. Never saw so many slow, meandering men.

ONE OF THE unusual personalities aboard is Watterson Lowe, a chubby, white-mustached gentleman who is billed as "official humanizer and ship cruise lecturer for the Cunard Line."

I am not sure just what a "humanizer" is, but each morning Watterson presents a small artificial flower—a different color each morning—to every passenger. If you are the thrifty type, you can hoard your flowers and make them into a souvenir bouquet.

Watterson has made some 450 cruises himself and estimates he has presented some 950,000 flowers or bouquets to travelers since he began the custom years ago. He also distributes slips of paper bearing a mimeographed "Thought for the Day" for people who like to think deep thoughts after lunch.

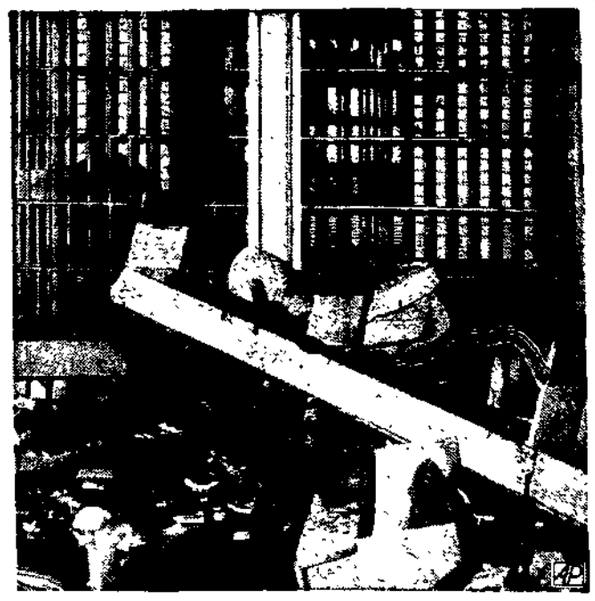
I have his thought for today in my hand. It says:

"Make haste to live and consider each day a life. Live today so that you can say tomorrow, 'what a lovely yesterday.'"

You can brood over that if you want to. But I'm going to take a nap in my deck chair.

BILL OF FIRE

WALTHAM, Mass. (UP)—Firemen usually have to settle for coffee and doughnuts as "refreshments" while fighting big fires, but while battling a $500,000 blaze here they were served by Civil Defense mobile feeding units with tomato bisque, lobster salad sandwiches, cake (three kinds), chicken salad, baked ham, assorted cheeses, cookies, doughnuts, milk, coffee.



DEBRIS LEFT BY RIOTERS. This was the scene in the dayroom of the Cook County jail in Chicago after 19 prisoners ended their more than 7-hour long riot. They surrendered after a barrage of tear gas and streams of water from high pressure fire hoses were poured into the cells.

4 Bucyrus Streets To Get Facelifting

BUCYRUS — Thomas J. Hug, of Norwalk, has been awarded a contract to improve four Bucyrus streets by constructing curbs and gutters and resurfacing one of the four.

A. L. Winter, Bucyrus service-safety director, announced today that the total of Hugs bids on individual streets is $15,632.20. The work is to be completed 120 days from the time of the contract, this summer.

The streets at the rates bid by Hug are: Sears St. from Perry St. to Ann St., curbs and gutters, $3,040.90; Russell Ave. from Woodlawn Ave. to the south edge of Inlot No. 894, curbs and gutters, $2,587.35; Walnut St., curbs and gutters $1,433.50; Perry St. from E. River St. to the west boundary of Inlot No. 1837, curbs and gutters and permanent resurfacing, $8,570.45.

COMPLETES WELDING CLASS

David Stiverson, employe of the Dutt Implement Co. here, recently attended a training course in Cleveland to learn the latest welding developments and how to conduct welding clinics to teach them.

NIGHT ROOST

WEST WARWICK, R. I. (UP)—West Warwick police have locked up many bad eggs, but a chicken only once. The chicken was found wandering around a city street. Police put it in a cell for the night.

Sailors Help Save Lives in Apartment Fire

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — A dingy apartment in a blighted area went up in flames here early today killing five persons.

Nineteen escaped, some through the heroism of off duty sailors from the nearby U. S. Navy submarine base.

Sailors flocking to the scene from New London's night spots, closing at just about the time the fire broke out, aided firemen and policemen in catching men, women and children who dropped from second and third floor windows.

None of the occupants, all living above the street level, escaped through normal exits.

The dead:

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sawicki, each about 40, occupants of a second floor rear apartment.

Mrs. Gregory Oritz, 27, and her daughter, Olgita, 4, in a third floor front apartment.

Mrs. Amelia Pina, 34, also a third floor occupant.

Before she died, Mrs. Pina awakened her three children, Roger, 10, Jacquina, 15, and Haginico, and her brother-in-law, Haginico Pitre, 40. All jumped into the waiting arms of rescuers.

Another hero was Manuel Oritz, brother-in-law of Olgita. He first tossed his 14-month-old nephew, Anaries Oritz, out of a window to rescuers. He then groped unsuccessfully through smoke and flame for his sister-in-law, Olgita, before dropping from the window himself.

REPORT CORRECTED

It was erroneously reported in Monday's Star under the "News of Other Years" column that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willmeth of 544 Avondale Ave. celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Willmeth, now of near New Bloomington, observed their silver anniversary ten years ago on March 8.

Silicified wood is found in abundance in local areas within the coal fields of Ohio.
